LARUE DIKE IS THREATENED BY FLOOD WATERS

County Surveyor's Force Working To Repair Bank Protecting Village

DAMAGE NOW $1,500

Rise of Scioto Ends at Prospect; Green Camp Still Isolated

Clark dike that is keeping flood waters of the Scioto river from [illegible] over LaRue, was in a [illegible] condition today, according [illegible] R. Leavens, county surveyor. [illegible] of employes of the surveyor's [illegible] was strenuously at work repairing the dike to prevent further damage from high water resulting from [illegible] rains and melting snow.

Leavens estimated that the dike had been damaged to the extent of [illegible]. Bridges escaped the flood with little damage although ice jams in the Little Scioto threatened to cause serious trouble Tuesday.

Two culverts have been washed out in Bowling Green and Tully townships, according to Leavens. The Tully township culvert is on the Hurr rd. The one in Bowling Green township is on the Guthery rd.

Unestimated damage has been caused to roads in the county by small washouts along the sides of the paving, the surveyor states.

River Drops at Prospect

The Scioto river had dropped one inch at Prospect this morning, the surveyor stated after making an early morning survey of the western and southern flood region. The village was still isolated, however, as all roads were still under water. Green Camp was still marooned with water covering all roads in the village.

LaRue and Agosta were faring better today than other river towns. Roads into both villages were reported passable by the surveyor.

Direct interurban service over the C. D. & M. had not been resumed

Say Flood Danger in Ohio Is Past

By International News Service

The flood danger in Ohio is past. Simultaneous with this announcement, came the work of rehabilitation of the devastated areas.

Though a slight drizzling rain was falling in some sections of the Buckeye state and the weather forecast indicated light rain for tonight, weathermen and government river observers said it would not aggravate conditions.

More than 600 persons were driven from their homes Tuesday night in the Springfield, Hamilton and Newark districts. These were making their residences fit for occupancy today.

Damage Over $3,000,000

Alarm was felt along the East Liverpool section of the Ohio river last night, when the stream, rising at the rate of six inches an hour, reached within three feet of flood stage. The waters were receding today, however, and the menace was no more than a threat. Damage estimates kept mounting. The $3,000,000 mark, set as a conservative property loss estimate by International News Service yesterday, will be exceeded, it was indicated.

Circleville remained cut off from the north and west, but here, too, the waters were reported receding.

In most sections of the state, only lowlands were flooded. Only little property loss was suffered by this encroachment of the streams. This excludes, however, the Springfield, Hamilton and Newark districts, where the water in some instances was from

LOCAL MAN JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Roy Nusser, Fined $700, Found After Search of More Than Year

Roy Nusser, who has been sought by officers for more than a year, was arrested last night and placed in the county jail to serve out a fine of $700 and costs imposed upon him in municipal court Dec. 8, 1927.

Nusser was given the $700 fine when he was convicted on a liquor charge in the lower court. He carried the case to common pleas court and the decision of Judge Martin in municipal court was sustained in February, 1928.

Since the time the common pleas court sustained the decision Nusser has been at large with the fine hanging over his head. Last night he was apprehended and placed in jail to serve out the fine, which, with the costs totals $721.15.

Nusser will serve out the fine at the rate of $1.50 per day.

AGED COUPLE BURNED BADLY BY EXPLOSION

NEWARK, Feb. 28—Burned about the head and shoulders, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McRainey, [illegible]-year-old wards of the county home, were in a serious condition in City hospital today.

His wife blind and feeble, McRainey was attempting to light the gas stove in her room when the explosion occurred.

It is believed that he failed to turn the gas off when his first match went out, and that the escaping gas exploded when he lighted a [illegible] match.

Kill Bill Teaching Bad Effects of Drugs, Alcohol

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—The house schools committee today killed the Hyre bill which sought to require that "the effects of alcoholic drinks and the use of narcotics" be taught in the high schools as a part of the science course.

After voting to kill it, the house judiciary committee reconsidered its action and decided to hold another hearing relative to the Sims bill which would permit physicians to prescribe one pint of liquor every 10 days. The present state dry laws limit such prescriptions to a half-pint although the federal dry laws authorize pint prescriptions.

MARION COURT IS REVERSED IN SHERIFF SUIT

Retrial Likely in Damage Action Against Former County Official

DATES BACK 5 YEARS

Surety Company Liable for Claim Against Washburn, Is Judges' Opinion

The damage suit brought against Frank A. Washburn, former Marion county sheriff, as a result of the killing of Raymond Rennels in a traffic mishap, may be retried in the common pleas court here.

The possibility of a retrial developed today when the district court of appeals handed down a decision which reverses a ruling of the lower court. The report on the district court's action was received here today by the clerk of courts.

A peculiar angle to the case is that in reversing the lower court the appellate court reversed a ruling of one of its own members. Charles L. Justice, of Marion, now a member of the court of appeals, was judge of the common pleas court here when the Washburn trial was held. Justice, however, did not participate in the hearing which resulted in his reversal. His place was taken for the hearing by Judge Silas S. Richards, of Toledo.

Sued by Administrator

The suit against Washburn was brought by R. A. Gordon, administrator of the estate of Rennels, who was killed about five years ago. The suit was brought against Washburn and his bonding company, the Maryland Casualty Co.

Judge Justice ruled during the trial that the bonding company was not liable and ordered the jury to return a verdict for the firm. He allowed the case to go to the jury so far as Washburn was concerned, however. The jury returned a verdict of $3,000 against Washburn.

It was the ruling which directed a verdict for the bonding company that the court of appeals reversed. The court in effect, held that the bonding company was liable for damages under the sheriff's bond as a county official.

Washburn and the bonding company was represented by the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant and Attorney George T. Geran. The law firm of Carhart & Warner represented Gordon, the plaintiff.

In spite of the fact that the plaintiff obtained a $3,000 verdict against Washburn, Carhart & Warner appealed the case, asking that the bonding company be placed back into the case.

LATE NEWS

Marion Judge To Decide Whether Barking Canine Is Nuisance

WHETHER or not a dog barking at night constitutes a nuisance sufficient that the owner may be prosecuted will be decided Friday afternoon when Pearl Clark, 294 Case av., appears before Municipal Judge Martin to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

Clark was arrested last night on a warrant signed by Derrill M. Dykes in which it is stated that a dog owned by Clark barked and howled to such an extent that the peace of the community was disturbed.

THREE POSTS TO BE FILLED IN CABINET

Seven Selections Believed Made; Include Mitchell for Attorney General

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — Herbert Hoover has almost finished the job of picking his cabinet.

A few decisions remain to be made in the next 48 hours but the major part of the work is ended. Despite the secrecy which the president-elect himself has observed, and which he has insisted upon others observing, seven of the selections can be ascertained with a fair degree of certainty. They are:

Secretary of State—Henry L. Stimson of New York.

Secretary of the treasury—Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania.

Attorney-general — William D. Mitchell of Minnesota.

Secretary of the navy—Charles F. Adams of Massachusetts.

Secretary of war—James W. Good of Iowa.

Secretary of the interior—Ray Lyman Wilbur of California.

Postmaster general — Walter F. Brown, of Ohio.

Three Posts Open

Some degree of uncertainty still exists concerning three posts—agriculture, labor and commerce. Mr. Hoover may have made up his mind concerning the men he wants to fill these positions, but if he has the fact has not become definitely known.

Until a few days ago, it was considered more or less certain that William N. Doak, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, would be secretary of labor. Now, however, some doubts have arisen. It was reported today that for the time being, the present secretary, James J. Davis might be retained. Inter-union rivalry and jealousy is said to have cropped out concerning the Doak appointment.

For the commerce post, it is known that Mr. Hoover would like to have his old friend, Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and economist. But Robinson doesn't want the job. His friends say there is only one cabinet position that interests him at all—the treasury—and that is filled by Secretary Mellon.

Agricultural Job Worry

Clarence M. Woolley, the radiator manufacturer, and Stuart W. Cramer of North Carolina, were regarded as the leading possibilities for the appointment today. Cramer was one of

CATTLE TESTS ARE TO START IN 10 DAYS

Seven Townships Signed Up for Inspection Under Area Plan

The county area test for tubercular cattle will be started within the next 10 days, according to an announcement made this morning by Dr. J. T. Gruber, head of the meat and milk inspection division of the city health department.

A total of seven townships in the county have signed up for the tests, according to Dr. Gruber, and this work will be started shortly.

A recent ruling has raised the indemnity to be paid to farmers when cattle are found tubercular and are destroyed. For the ordinary breed the farmer will be paid no less than $40 for every one destroyed and for thoroughbreds the minimum payment is $75.

FUNERAL DIRECTOR DIES SUDDENLY AT WOOSTER

WOOSTER, Feb. 28—After preparing the body of a man for burial, Joseph Munter, 62, funeral director at Fredericksburg, near here, returned to his home and died suddenly early this morning.

Munter embalmed the body of John First last night. He returned to his home at about 3 a. m. and was suddenly stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage. He died a few minutes later.

Other Quintets Get into Action in Morning; Fans To Accompany Cagers

BY KARL B. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

Marion and Marion county fans will be welded into one large unit Friday and Saturday with the Class A and B central district basketball tournament at Delaware as the goal when five representative teams of the city and county take part in the annual cage classic in Edwards gym at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Harding high school is the only team from Marion to take part in the Class A event. In the Class B division, St. Mary's of Marion, Green Camp, Waldo and Morral will be seen in action on the opening day.

Morral, third place winners in the county tournament, will be the first of the quintet of teams to see action playing Monroe township of Madison county at 10 o'clock Friday morning. This game is scheduled on floor No. 2

Saints Play Stoutsville

Green Camp and Waldo will be playing at the same time following the Morral-Monroe fray at 10:45 o'clock. On floor No. 1 Green Camp will meet Hyatts and Waldo, playing Plain City, will be seen on floor No. 2

St. Mary's of Marion plays Friday morning, taking on Stoutsville at 11:30 o'clock on floor No. 2

Harding high school's basketeers will enter the tournament competition at 8:15 o'clock Friday night playing Bexley high of Columbus. This contest will be played on the regulation floor of Edwards gym

What chances have the Marion county teams? That's a question fans are putting up to dopesters 24 hours before the tournament swings into action. Those questions are the only indication that a tournament is about to be played for the coaches of the

NEW CLUE IN HORST CASE DRAWS BLANK

Detectives Off on Another "Hot Tip" in Kidnaping of Youth

WOOSTER, Feb. 28—The two month search for four-year-old Melvin Horst, Orrville, led to another blank wall today.

Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and two members of the prosecutor's office here, left this city yesterday on "a hot tip." Their destination was kept secret.

It was learned today the authorities had been to Bryan and West Unity, following a clue that they hoped would lead to the discovery of the boy or body, that has been missing since Dec. 27, when he was abducted from the streets of Orrville. The tot is believed dead the victim of foul play. The West Unity and Bryan clue resulted in no discovery, they announced.

Five persons, all members of one family, have been indicted by the Wayne county grand jury for stealing the child.

Meanwhile authorities are doubling their efforts in the search for the boy, or what is more gruesome still, the body.

2 DIE IN FLOOD

Waters Receding in Western Pennsylvania; Rain Forecast

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28—Two lives have been claimed by the flood waters which were receding in western Pennsylvania, but rising slightly throughout the central sections of the state today.

Traffic on both the Allegheny and Ohio rivers was still at a standstill today. Although the flood stages were unexpected the actual damage done was said to be small in proportion to suddenness and the depth which the waters reached.

Rain or snow is forecast for today, but weather observers do not believe it will be in sufficient amount to cause the rivers and streams of the state to become raging torrents again.

Can't Keep Lindy Down; Hops Off With Anne Today Despite Hurt Shoulder

WEDDING TO TAKE PLACE IN MEXICO

Ceremony Will Be Held at Morrow Estate in Cuernavaca Valley

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28—While Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was recovering rapidly today from the injuries he received late yesterday when his plane catapulted while he was landing after a flight with his fiancee, Miss Ann Spencer Morrow, it was learned that the young couple will be married in the Morrow estate in the beautiful Cuernavaca valley, 60 miles up a mountain highway from this city.

It had previously been believed, and was not denied, that the couple would be married at Englewood, New Jersey, where the Morrow family maintain their "New York home."

The date of the nuptials is not known but it is understood that they will be soon.

The wedding, it is said, will be quiet, with possibly only members of the two families present. It may be so quiet as to be almost secret, with no official announcement in advance.

Dwight W. Morrow, the United States ambassador to Mexico, and the father of Miss Anne, Colonel Lindbergh himself and the demure little girl who is to be the bride all have a horror of publicity. They cannot understand how the outside world of strangers can be interested in a transaction so intimate.

TWO LIQUOR RAIDS STAGED BY POLICE

Woman Pays Fine of $200 and Costs; Man Pleads Not Guilty

Police last night continued their war on bootleggers by raiding two business places. A quantity of alleged liquor was found in both and resulted in the arrest of the owners.

Mrs. Jessie Verity, who conducts a meat market at 123 Selby st., pleaded guilty to a charge of possession this morning in municipal court and was fined $200 and costs by Judge William R. Martin. The fine was paid and Mrs. Verity was released.

Tom Verno, owner of a confectionery store at 801 West Center st., pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and hearing of the case was marked down for Monday afternoon.

Police were armed with search warrants for the two places.

The conviction of Mrs. Verity this morning makes a total of 17 liquor convictions procured by the police in the first two months of this year.

GIRL MARRIES

Runs Away from Home of Parents in Bexley

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Miss Mary Jane Phillips, 14, member of a prominent family here and student at St. Mary's of the Springs, exclusive private school, for whom a police hunt was started when her parents reported her as missing Tuesday night, was back at her home at Bexley, fashionable suburb, today, the bride of a 21-year-old youth, Edwin L. Welsh.

The girl's father, who started the search Tuesday night, expressed himself as having no objections to the marriage. According to the parent, the young people were married in Kentucky on New Years eve and had kept the matter secret. Her father said his daughter told him after her return today that she wanted to live with her husband and left home.

Glidden will be under observation in the infirmary.

WILLIS HIPSHER DIES AT CHURCH-ST. HOME

Former School Teacher and Insurance Man Succumbs; Rites Saturday

Willis Hipsher, retired school teacher and former insurance and real estate agent here, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 857 East Church st.

Mr. Hipsher would have been 51 years of age in June of this year. He was born in Caledonia on June 21, 1818, coming about 25 years ago to this city where he has since resided. He was married to Sarah Pace, who passed away about 28 years ago, and on March 10, 1901, he married Miss Verde Sampsell, who survives him.

Mr. Hipsher was a member of the Central Christian church of this city, have transferred his membership from the Christian church of Kirkpatrick. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge at Caledonia. For a number of years he was engaged in the insurance and real estate business both here and in Caledonia. He retired from active work about 10 years ago.

He is survived by his widow, two children, Milford Burton Hipsher, of Caledonia, and Mrs. Arnold Landrum, South Pearl st., and one step-son, Charles Pace, residing near Caledonia, two brothers, Lafayette Hipsher and Irvin Hipsher, of Caledonia, one sister, Mrs. Salinda Foos, near Caledonia, 10 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday at the home on Church st., with continued services at 2:30 o'clock in the M. E. church at Caledonia. The Rev. George B. Groves, pastor of the Central Christian church here, will be in charge. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Caledonia.

STINSON AND PAGE SEEK NEW RECORD

"Sally Sovereign" Takes Off on Ice for Endurance Try

It was a perfect take-off skimming over the smooth ice and going into the air just in time to jump over an ice floe which had raised about ten feet into the air.

TREASURY INTACT

No Change To Be Made as Hoover Takes Office

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — With Secretary Mellon remaining in the cabinet, the present treasury organization will be maintained virtually intact and general policies will be unchanged, it was learned today.

Most high officials in the treasury have been asked not to submit their resignations, indicating that for the time at least they will continue in office. As a rule at the end of an administration the officials subordinate to the secretary resign to await the pleasure of the new chiefs.

TWO ON PLEASURE TRIP OVER VALLEY

Entire Nation Praises Famous Pilot After Mishap of Yesterday

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today proved himself the "man they can't keep down," when, despite an injured shoulder and arm sustained in a landing crash yesterday, he hopped off on another flight at 10:27 o'clock Mexico City time.

He was accompanied on this flight by his fiancee, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, who also was his passenger yesterday when he crashed.

They hopped off from a civilian flying field adjacent to the Valbuena flying field in a fleet two passenger biplane.

Miss Morrow appeared somewhat agitated as she took her seat beside her lover, but the agitation quickly passed. She wore a Mexican aviator's leather jacket and helmet over her red sports coat and blue skirt.

Just Pleasure Trip

Before taking off Lindbergh said he was "going merely for a pleasure trip over the valley of Mexico," and said they expected to be gone only 15 or 20 minutes.

It was thought by some at the field Lindbergh may be administering the "cure" recommended by many instructors for beginners who crash early in their flying careers. This cure requires that students, if able, clamber back in another plane and go aloft as soon as possible in order to combat any "loss of nerve" that might have been occasioned by the first crash.

The flight was a complete surprise to all, as it had been thought Lindbergh would be unable to fly for a week or two, due to the dislocated shoulder and injured right wrist which he sustained in yesterday's crash.

Arm in Sling

He had appeared at the field only a few minutes before the takeoff with his right arm in a sling.

The flight lasted only about 10 minutes. After a flight which carried

FAMOUS FILM STAR BATTLES DEATH TODAY

Charlie Chaplin's Physicians Express Grave Fears for His Life

SECLUSION ORDERED

Gloom Prevails Over Studio; All Activity Is Suspended

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 28—Charles Chaplin, famous comedian of the silver sheet, was battling death early today. Spinal influenza developed in the renowned actor's condition, following a relapse in his illness from ptomaine poisoning, it was reported.

Physicians expressed grave fears for his life.

Dr. Cecil Reynolds, in charge of the comedian's case, remained at his bedside throughout the night. Chaplin's palatial residence was closely guarded from outside intrusion, while all telephone communication with the house was suspended.

The noted player spent a restless night, according to reports at his studio in Hollywood. His temperature was high, steadily exceeding 101 degrees.

Orders Seclusion

Every known scientific device was brought into play to avert pneumonia, Dr. Reynolds said.

The doctor ordered strict seclusion for his patient and even his very close friends were not permitted to visit him. Extreme quiet and rest are necessary, it was explained.

Lita Grey Chaplin, the comedian's divorced wife, is reported to be in the middle west on a vaudeville tour. Studio officials would not divulge whether she was among those who have sent telegrams inquiring about Chaplin's condition. The Chaplins were divorced in August, 1927.

Chaplin's relapse, it was reported, resulted from the disobedience of his bedside attendants to physician's orders. It was said that his nurses and servants served him with solid foods, after liquid nourishment had been prescribed.

Condition Shows Decline

Heavy gloom pervaded the Chaplin studio, where all activity abruptly ceased last Monday when the star collapsed on the lot. Immediately after the collapse, the comedian was rushed to his home and all production work was suspended.

For two days Chaplin's condition was fairly encouraging. Then, at midnight Tuesday, the relapse came. Late yesterday afternoon the famed funny man was declared improving, but during the night, he tossed about on his bed, his condition showing a constant decline.

Deep anxiety was felt in the motion picture colony over the great actor's condition. The Chaplin studio was being flooded with telephone calls made by the ill comedian's many friends. Telegrams poured in from all parts of the country, expressing hopes for the actor's recovery.

SEVEN SAVED FROM FLAMES BY 2 MEN

Carry Members of Family to Safety Over Porch, Down Tree

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—Two men carried out an ingenious rescue of a mother and her seven children from a burning home here today.

William Gillery's son-in-law, Theopolis Danzy, living in the Gillery home, awoke to find the residence afire. Awaking Gillery, Mrs. Gillery, and their seven children Danzy informed them that escape by the stairway was cut off by flames.

Danzy proceeded to the front porch and climbed out on the limb of a tree. Gillery then passed each of the children to Danzy who lowered them to the ground. Mrs. Gillery escaped by the same route. The youngest child, a baby of 19 months, was dropped but is believed to have been not seriously injured.

New United States Steel Develops into "Mystery Stock"

By W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 28—Respond overnight jump in copper me to 19½ cents a pound for 18 cents in the home mar copper stocks pushed forward to the highest prices just before noon today. At 14 la was within seven points of goal set for this stock by the bulls in the latter part of Andes, Inspiration and other stocks in this group were at best behavior, and added one to points to market values. Buying orders for stocks wed into the big board in such volume that the tape was 15 minutes behind the market at the end of the first hour. All of the "trading favorites" were boosted to higher price levels as the victorious bulls rode roughshod over the bears by using the largest amount of outside buying since the reserve board's "warning" was issued. Wall Street looks for no increase in the bank rate today. Though there is quite likely to be a big expansion in the total of brokers' loans.

U. S. Steel is now regarded as the chief "mystery stock" of the speculative list, because of the fact that no details are available as to the time, amount and price of the new stock to be issued. This gives Bethlehem the best play in the steel stocks and an active market Bethlehem moved up to 101½, the highest price on record.

James H. Eymon Scores High in City Gun Club Shoot

Once again the trapshoot honors of the city gun club went to an outsider.

James H. Eymon, local attorney, set the pace yesterday afternoon at the second shoot of the club, which is composed chiefly of city officials.

Eymon started away with a flourish, breaking nine out of the first 10 birds. Luther Landis, city auditor, gave Eymon a run for his money through the entire shoot but fell two birds short.

To satisfy the spectators, Eymon and Landis agreed to shoot a 10-bird event for the club championship. But this event ended in a tie and will be continued at the next meet.

ORDINANCE NO. 26

TO ISSUE BONDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PURCHASING A FIRE ENGINE.

Be it ordained, by the Council of the Village of Green Camp, state of Ohio: two-thirds of the members elected thereto, concurring:

TODAY'S REVIEW OF YESTERDAY'S GRAIN

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 28—Bearish news which developed near midsession brought a sharp closing reaction in wheat prices yesterday after the market had failed to rally early on constructive advices. A sharp break at Winnipeg, where the pool was reported selling heavily, and further weakness in Southwestern cash markets were principal factors behind the decline. Other grains reacted moderately in sympathy.

Net losses of 2⅛@2⅜c were registered by closing wheat quotations. Corn was 1⅛@1⅜c lower at the close; oats were ⅝@1⅛c off and rye was down ⅞@2c. Winnipeg wheat futures closed 2¼@2⅜c lower.

Early News Bullish

Early news was mainly bullish. Winnipeg was strong, drought conditions in Canada received considerable attention, floods in the southeastern sections of the Winter wheat belt were reported, and advices from Illinois, Indiana and Missouri claimed positive cases of damage.

However, local prices were easier from the start on profit taking after the previous day's unexpected advance and on the failure of Liverpool to follow. The latter market finished ⅝@⅞d higher, and cables again stressed the relative cheapness of Argentine wheat.

Professionals sold wheat when the local market failed to rally, and when Winnipeg broke sharply, liquidation here found little demand and uncovered stop loss orders. Prices broke through the cost of the privileges with little hesitation.

Bulls Disappointed

Bulls were generally disappointed in the market action yesterday, following on the heels of the brilliant rally of Tuesday, and while the majority still favor the constructive side for the long pull, the breaks of Monday and yesterday will probably result in less aggressive buying for a time.

Corn was relatively firmer than wheat most of the session. Trade was more active and was broader with commission houses on both sides of the market. Early reports of buying for foreign account in the pit were discredited later and most of the strength came from local bulls buying on a firmer local cash market and reports of export demand. Demand for spot corn was good and the basis firm to a shade higher locally.

In addition to the wheat break, a factor behind the late corn decline was an easy cash market at Kansas City. The basis there was 1¼@1½c off and prices unloaded 1¼@1½c off.

In the cash market wheat was steady to 2c lower; corn unchanged to 1c higher; oats steady to ½c up; rye dull, barley steady.

Cars inspected were: Wheat, 44; corn, 119; oats, 22; rye, 1; barley, 10.

NOTICE TO NON-RESIDENT DEFENDANTS

Charles W. Irvine and Mary J. Irvine, his wife, who reside at 5137 W. Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois; William H. Irvine and Clara Irvine, his wife, who reside at Decatur, Illinois; John C. Irvine and Ethel Irvine, his wife, who reside at 1402 Jackson Street, Sullivan, Illinois; Inez Irvine Powless and Clarence Powless, her husband, who reside at Anne, Illinois; Jessie Irvine Hoch and Joseph Hoch, her husband, who reside at Richmond, Indiana, and Lillian Irvine Johnson and Thomas Johnson, her husband, who reside at Evans, Colorado, will take notice that on the 24th day of February, 1929, The Morral Banking Company, a corporation doing business at Morral, Marion County, Ohio, filed its petition in the Common Pleas Court of Marion County, Ohio, being case No. 20637, praying for foreclosure of a mortgage executed and delivered to it by Richard V. Irvine and Wilson P. Irvine (the said Wilson P. Irvine being now deceased) on December 31, 1927, which mortgage was given to secure a note for $2,500.00 and on which there is due and unpaid the sum of $2,500.00, with interest at 8% from December 31, 1927, which mortgage is recorded in Mortgage Records, Marion County, Ohio, Volume 127, page 231, and praying further that the rights and interests of each and all of said defendants as well as other defendants, who are residents of Ohio, may be fully determined and that said real estate be sold to pay the amount due on said mortgage, said mortgage being on the following described real estate: "Situated in the County of Marion, in the State of Ohio, and in the Township of Salt Rock and bounded and described as follows: Ten acres off of the south end of the real estate formerly owned by Jacob P. Barnthouse and which was conveyed to him by Elma and Chester O. Francis by Warranty Deed dated January 19th, 1922, said deed being recorded in Vol. 70, page 572, Recorder's Office, Marion County, Ohio, said real estate being described therein as follows: All that part of the south half of the northeast quarter of section twenty-three (23) township four (4), south, range fourteen (14) east, that lies west of the Morral Road excepting therefrom the 20 acres strict measurement, exclusive of road, off of the west end of the south half of said quarter section apportioned to Annie Washburn (See Vol. 15, page 357, complete Record in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio) and all the estate, right, title and interest of said grantors in and to said premises. The land which the grantors herein convey to the grantee herein being ten acres off of the south end of the above described premises run off in such manner as to be in the form of a rectangle and to contain ten acres, and further described as being ten acres on which Jacob P. Barnthouse formerly resided and includes the building and improvements thereon." Said defendants have or claim to have some title or interest in said premises as heirs of the said Wilson P. Irvine, but said interest is subordinate to plaintiff's mortgage lien thereon, as averred in said petition. Said defendants are required to answer on or before the 22d day of April, 1929, or judgment and decree will be taken as prayed for in said petition.

LA RUE DIKE IS THREATENED BY FLOOD WATERS

County Surveyor's Force Working To Repair Bank Protecting Village

DAMAGE NOW $1,500

Rise of Scioto Ends at Prospect; Green Camp Still Isolated

Clark dike that is keeping flood waters of the Scioto river from sweeping over LaRue, was in a dangerous condition today, according to [illegible] R. Leavens, county surveyor. A force of employes of the surveyor's office was strenuously at work repairing the dike to prevent further damage from high water resulting from recent rains and melting snow.

Leavens estimated that the dike had been damaged to the extent of $1,500. Bridges escaped the flood with little damage although ice jams in the Little Scioto threatened to cause serious trouble Tuesday.

Two culverts have been washed out in Bowling Green and Tully townships, according to Leavens. The Tully township culvert is on the Hurr rd. The one in Bowling Green township is on the Guthery rd.

Unestimated damage has been caused to roads in the county by small washouts along the sides of the strips, the surveyor states.

River Drops at Prospect

The Scioto river had dropped one inch at Prospect this morning, the surveyor stated after making an early morning survey of the western and southern flood region. The village was still isolated, however, as all roads were still under water. Green Camp was still marooned with water covering all roads in the village.

LaRue and Agosta were faring better today than other river towns. Roads into both villages were reported passable by the surveyor.

Direct interurban service over the C. D. & M. had not been resumed

Say Flood Danger in Ohio Is Past

By International News Service

The flood danger in Ohio is past. Simultaneous with this announcement, came the work of rehabilitation of the devastated areas.

Although a slight drizzling rain was falling in some sections of the Buckeye state and the weather forecast indicated light rain for tonight, weathermen and government river observers said it would not aggravate conditions.

More than 600 persons were driven from their homes Tuesday night in the Springfield, Hamilton and Newark districts. These were making their residences fit for occupancy today.

Damage Over $3,000,000

Alarm was felt along the East Liverpool section of the Ohio river last night, when the stream, rising at the rate of six inches an hour, reached within three feet of flood stage. The waters were receding today, however, and the menace was no more than a threat. Damage estimates were mounting. The $3,000,000 mark, set as a conservative property loss estimate by International News Service yesterday, will be exceeded, it was indicated.

Circleville remained cut off from the north and west, but here, too, the waters were reported receding.

In most sections of the state, only lowlands were flooded. Only little property loss was suffered by this encroachment of the streams. This excludes, however, the Springfield, Hamilton and Newark districts, where the water in some instances was from

LOCAL MAN JAILED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Roy Nusser, Fined $700, Found After Search of More Than Year

Roy Nusser, who has been sought by officers for more than a year, was arrested last night and placed in the county jail to serve out a fine of $700 and costs imposed upon him in municipal court Dec. 8, 1927.

Nusser was given the $700 fine when he was convicted on a liquor charge in the lower court. He carried the case to common pleas court and the decision of Judge Martin in the lower court was sustained in February, 1928.

Since the time the common pleas court sustained the decision Nusser has been at large with the fine hanging over his head. Last night he was arrested and placed in jail to work out the fine, which, with the costs, totals $721.15.

Nusser will serve out the fine at the rate of $1 50 per day.

AGED COUPLE BURNED BADLY BY EXPLOSION

NEWARK, Feb. 28—Burned about the head and shoulders, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McRainey, 82-year-old wards of the county home, were in a serious condition in a hospital today.

His wife blind and feeble, McRainey was attempting to light the gas stove in her room when the explosion occurred.

It is believed that he failed to turn the gas off when his first match went out, and that the escaping gas exploded when he lighted a [illegible] match.

Kill Bill Teaching Bad Effects of Drugs, Alcohol

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—The house schools committee today killed the Hyre bill which sought to require that "the effects of alcoholic drinks and the use of narcotics" be taught in the high schools as a part of the science course.

After voting to kill it, the house judiciary committee reconsidered its action and decided to hold another hearing relative to the Sims bill which would permit physicians to prescribe one pint of liquor every 10 days. The present state dry laws limit such prescriptions to a half pint although the federal dry laws authorize pint prescriptions.

MARION COURT IS REVERSED IN SHERIFF SUIT

Retrial Likely in Damage Action Against Former County Official

DATES BACK 5 YEARS

Surety Company Liable for Claim Against Washburn, Is Judges' Opinion

The damage suit brought against Frank A. Washburn, former Marion county sheriff, as a result of the killing of Raymond Rennels in a traffic mishap, may be retried in the common pleas court here.

The possibility of a retrial developed today when the district court of appeals handed down a decision which reverses a ruling of the lower court. The report on the district court's action was received here today by the clerk of courts.

A peculiar angle to the case is that in reversing the lower court the appellate court reversed a ruling of one of its own members. Charles L. Justice, of Marion, now a member of the court of appeals, was judge of the common pleas court here when the Washburn trial was held. Justice, however, did not participate in the hearing which resulted in his reversal. His place was taken for the hearing by Judge Silas S. Richards, of Toledo.

Sued by Administrator

The suit against Washburn was brought by R. A. Gordon, administrator of the estate of Rennels, who was killed about five years ago. The suit was brought against Washburn and his bonding company, the Maryland Casualty Co.

Judge Justice ruled during the trial that the bonding company was not liable and ordered the jury to return a verdict for the firm. He allowed the case to go to the jury so far as Washburn was concerned, however. The jury returned a verdict of $3,000 against Washburn.

It was the ruling which directed a verdict for the bonding company that the court of appeals reversed. The court in effect, held that the bonding company was liable for damages under the sheriff's bond as a county official.

Washburn and the bonding company was represented by the law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant and Attorney George T. Geran. The law firm of Carhart & Warner represented Gordon, the plaintiff.

In spite of the fact that the plaintiff obtained a $3,000 verdict against Washburn, Carhart & Warner appealed the case, asking that the bonding company be placed back into the case.

LATE NEWS

OWNER IN COURT

Marion Judge To Decide Whether Barking Canine Is Nuisance

WHETHER or not a dog barking at night constitutes a nuisance sufficient that the owner may be prosecuted will be decided Friday afternoon when Pearl Clark, 204 Cass av., appears before Municipal Judge Martin to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

Clark was arrested last night on a warrant signed by Derrill M. Dykes in which it is stated that a dog owned by Clark barked and howled to such an extent that the peace of the community was disturbed.

THREE POSTS TO BE FILLED IN CABINET

Seven Selections Believed Made; Include Mitchell for Attorney General

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — Herbert Hoover has almost finished the job of picking his cabinet.

A few decisions remain to be made in the next 48 hours, but the major part of the work is ended. Despite the secrecy which the president-elect himself has observed, and which he has insisted upon others observing, seven of the selections can be ascertained with a fair degree of certainty. They are.

Secretary of State—Henry L. Stimson of New York.

Secretary of the treasury—Andrew W. Mellon of Pennsylvania.

Attorney general — William D. Mitchell of Minnesota.

Secretary of the navy—Charles F. Adams of Massachusetts.

Secretary of war—James W. Good of Iowa.

Secretary of the interior—Ray Lyman Wilbur of California.

Postmaster general — Walter F. Brown, of Ohio.

Three Posts Open

Some degree of uncertainty still exists concerning three posts—agriculture, labor and commerce. Mr. Hoover may have made up his mind concerning the men he wants to fill these positions, but if he has the fact has not become definitely known.

Until a few days ago, it was considered more or less certain that William N. Doak, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, would be secretary of labor. Now, however, some doubts have arisen. It was reported today that for the time being, the present secretary, James J. Davis might be retained. Inter union rivalry and jealousy is said to have cropped out concerning the Doak appointment.

For the commerce post, it is known that Mr. Hoover would like to have his old friend, Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker and economist. But Robinson doesn't want the job. His friends say there is only one cabinet position that interests him at all—the treasury — and that is filled by Secretary Mellon.

Agricultural Job Worry

Clarence M. Woolley, the radiator manufacturer, and Stuart W. Cramer of North Carolina, were regarded as the leading possibilities for the appointment today. Cramer was one of

CATTLE TESTS ARE TO START IN 10 DAYS

Seven Townships Signed Up for Inspection Under Area Plan

The county area test for tubercular cattle will be started within the next 10 days, according to an announcement made this morning by Dr. J. T. Gruber, head of the meat and milk inspection division of the city health department.

A total of seven townships in the county have signed up for the tests, according to Dr. Gruber, and this work will be started shortly.

A recent ruling has raised the indemnity to be paid to farmers when cattle are found tubercular and are destroyed. For the ordinary breed the farmer will be paid no less than $40 for every one destroyed and for thoroughbreds the minimum payment is $75.

FUNERAL DIRECTOR DIES SUDDENLY AT WOOSTER

WOOSTER, Feb. 28—After preparing the body of a man for burial, Joseph Munter, 62, funeral director at Fredericksburg, near here, returned to his home and died suddenly early this morning.

Munter embalmed the body of John First last night. He returned to his home at about 3 a. m. and was suddenly stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage. He died a few minutes later.

Other Quintets Get into Action in Morning; Fans To Accompany Cagers

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

Marion and Marion county fans will be welded into one large unit Friday and Saturday with the Class A and B central district basketball tournament at Delaware as the goal when five representative teams of the city and county take part in the annual cage classic in Edwards gym at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Harding high school is the only team from Marion to take part in the Class A event. In the Class B division, St. Mary's of Marion, Green Camp, Waldo and Morral will be seen in action on the opening day.

Morral, third place winners in the county tournament, will be the first of the quintet of teams to see action playing Monroe township of Madison county at 10 o'clock Friday morning. This game is scheduled on floor No. 2

Saints Play Stoutsville

Green Camp and Waldo will be playing at the same time following the Morral-Monroe fray at 10:15 o'clock. On floor No. 1 Green Camp will meet Hyatts and Waldo, playing Plain City, will be seen on floor No. 2

St. Mary's of Marion plays Friday mornin, taking on Stoutsville at 11:30 o'clock on floor No. 2

Harding high school's basketeers will enter the tournament competition at 8:45 o'clock Friday night playing Bexley high of Columbus. This contest will be played on the regulation floor of Edwards gym.

What chances have the Marion county teams? That's a question fans are putting up to dopesters 24 hours before the tournament swings into action. Those questions are the only indication that a tournament is about to be played for the coaches of the

Detectives Off on Another "Hot Tip" in Kidnaping of Youth

WOOSTER, Feb. 28—The two month search for four-year-old Melvin Horst, Orrville, led to another blank wall today.

Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, and two members of the prosecutor's office here, left this city yesterday on "a hot tip." Their destination was kept secret.

It was learned today the authorities had been to Bryan and West Unity, following a clue that they hoped would lead to the discovery of the boy or body, that has been missing since Dec. 27, when he was abducted from the streets of Orrville. The tot is believed dead the victim of foul play. The West Unity and Bryan clue resulted in no discovery, they announced.

Five persons, all members of one family, have been indicted by the Wayne county grand jury for stealing the child.

Meanwhile authorities are doubling their efforts in the search for the boy, or what is more gruesome still, the body.

2 DIE IN FLOOD

Waters Receding in Western Pennsylvania; Rain Forecast

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28—Two lives have been claimed by the flood waters which were receding in western Pennsylvania, but rising slightly throughout the central sections of the state today.

Traffic on both the Allegheny and Ohio rivers was still at a standstill today. Although the flood stages were unexpected the actual damage done was said to be small in proportion to suddenness and the depth which the waters reached.

Rain or snow is forecast for today, but weather observers do not believe it will be in sufficient amount to cause the rivers and streams of the state to become raging torrents again.

Can't Keep Lindy Down; Hops Off With Anne Today Despite Hurt Shoulder

Miss Morrow, Colonel Lindbergh and a view of Cuernavaca.

WEDDING TO TAKE PLACE IN MEXICO

Ceremony Will Be Held at Morrow Estate in Cuernavaca Valley

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28—While Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was recovering rapidly today from the injuries he received late yesterday when his plane catapulted while he was landing after a flight with his fiancee, Miss Ann Spencer Morrow, it was learned that the young couple will be married at the Morrow estate in the beautiful Cuernavaca valley, 60 miles up a mountain highway from this city.

It had previously been believed, and was not denied, that the couple would be married at Englewood, New Jersey, where the Morrow family maintain their "New York home."

The date of the nuptials is not known but it is understood that they will be soon.

The wedding, it is said, will be quiet, with possibly only members of the two families present. It may be so quiet as to be almost secret, with no official announcement in advance.

Dwight W. Morrow, the United States ambassador to Mexico, and the father of Miss Anne, Colonel Lindbergh himself and the demure little girl who is to be the bride all have a horror of publicity. They cannot understand how the outside world of strangers can be interested in a transaction so intimate.

TWO LIQUOR RAIDS STAGED BY POLICE

Woman Pays Fine of $200 and Costs; Man Pleads Not Guilty

Police last night continued their war on bootleggers by raiding two business places. A quantity of alleged liquor was found in both and resulted in the arrest of the owners.

Mrs. Jessie Verity, who conducts a meat market at 123 Sellor ct., pleaded guilty to a charge of possession this morning in municipal court and was fined $200 and costs by Judge William H. Martin. The fine was paid and Mrs. Verity was released.

Tom Vrono, owner of a confectionery store at 841 West Center st., pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and hearing of the case was marked down for Monday afternoon.

Police were armed with search warrants for the two places.

The conviction of Mrs. Verity this morning makes a total of 17 liquor convictions procured by the police in the first two months of this year.

GIRL MARRIES

Runs Away from Home of Parents in Bexley

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Miss Mary Jane Phillips, 11, member of a prominent family here and student at St. Marys of the Springs, exclusive private school, for whom a police hunt was started when her parents reported her as missing Tuesday night, was back at her home at Bexley, fashionable suburb, today, the bride of a 21-year-old youth, Edwin L. Welsh.

The girl's father, who started the search Tuesday night, expressed himself as having no objections to the marriage. According to the parent, the young people were married in Kentucky on New Years eve and had kept the matter secret. Her father said his daughter told him after her return today that she wanted to live with her husband and left home.

Glidden will be under observation in the infirmary.

WILLIS HIPSHER DIES AT CHURCH-ST. HOME

Former School Teacher and Insurance Man Succumbs; Rites Saturday

Willis Hipsher, retired school teacher and former insurance and real estate agent here, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 853 East Church st.

Mr. Hipsher would have been 81 years of age in June of this year. He was born in Caledonia on June 21, 1848, coming about 25 years ago to this city where he has since resided. He was married to Sarah Pace, who passed away about 25 years ago, and on March 10, 1901, he married Miss Verde Sampsell, who survives him.

Mr. Hipsher was a member of the Central Christian church of this city, have transferred his membership from the Christian church of Kirkpatrick. He was also a member of the Knights of Pythias lodge at Caledonia. For a number of years he was engaged in the insurance and real estate business both here and in Caledonia. He retired from active work about 10 years ago.

He is survived by his widow, two children, Milford Burton Hipsher, of Caledonia, and Mrs. Arnold Landrum, South Pearl st., and one step son, Charles Pace, residing near Caledonia, two brothers, Lafayette Hipsher and Irvin Hipsher, of Caledonia, one sister, Mrs. Salinda Pace, near Caledonia, 10 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Saturday at the home on Church st., with continued services at 2:30 o'clock in the M. E. church at Caledonia. The Rev. George E. Groves, pastor of the Central Christian church here, will be in charge. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Caledonia.

STINSON AND PAGE SEEK NEW RECORD

"Sally Sovereign" Takes Off on Ice for Endurance Try

BAY CITY, Mich., Feb. 28—In an attempt to shatter the world's endurance record for sustained flying Edward L. Stinson, pilot and Randolph G. Page, mechanic, hopped off from the ice of Saginaw Bay in their specially-constructed Stinson Detroiter monoplane "Sally Sovereign" at 10:12 a. m. today.

It was a perfect take-off skimming over the smooth ice and going into the air just in time to jump over an ice floe which had raised about ten feet into the air.

TREASURY INTACT

No Change To Be Made as Hoover Takes Office

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — With Secretary Mellon remaining in the cabinet, the present treasury organization will be maintained virtually intact, and general policies will be unchanged, it was learned today.

Most high officials in the treasury have been asked not to submit their resignations, indicating that for the time at least they will continue in office. As a rule at the end of an administration the officials subordinate to the secretary resign to await the pleasure of the new chief.

TWO ON PLEASURE TRIP OVER VALLEY

Entire Nation Praises Famous Pilot After Mishap of Yesterday

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 28—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today proved himself the "man they can't keep down," when, despite an injured shoulder and arm sustained in a landing crash yesterday, he hopped off on another flight at 10:27 o'clock Mexico City time.

He was accompanied on this flight by his fiancee, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, who also was his passenger yesterday when he crashed.

They hopped off from a civilian flying field adjacent to the Valbuena flying field in a fleet two passenger biplane.

Miss Morrow appeared somewhat agitated as she took her seat beside her lover, but the agitation quickly passed. She wore a Mexican aviator's leather jacket and helmet over her red sports coat and blue skirt.

Just Pleasure Trip

Before taking off Lindbergh said he was "going merely for a pleasure trip over the valley of Mexico," and said they expected to be gone only 15 or 20 minutes.

It was thought by some at the field Lindbergh may be administering the "cure" recommended by many instructors for beginners who crash early in their flying careers. This cure requires that students, if able, clamber back in another plane and go aloft as soon as possible in order to combat any "loss of nerve" that might have been occasioned by the first crash.

The flight was a complete surprise to all, as it had been thought Lindbergh would be unable to fly for a week or two, due to the dislocated shoulder and injured right wrist which he sustained in yesterday's crash.

Arm in Sling

He had appeared at the field only a few minutes before the takeoff with his right arm in a sling.

The flight lasted only about 10 minutes. After a flight which carried

STOP PLOT TO KILL PRESIDENT OF CUBA

Officials Say Efforts Made To Foment Revolution by Assassination

HAVANA, Feb. 28—The government was in complete control of the situation throughout Cuba today following discovery of a plot to assassinate President Machado and foment a revolution.

Col. Alfonso Fors, head of the secret police, arrested eight men last night accused of complicity. There are 65 others against whom warrants have been issued.

It is claimed that the alleged plotters sought to bring about a situation of chaos which would result in armed intervention by the United States.

FAMOUS FILM STAR BATTLES DEATH TODAY

Charlie Chaplin's Physicians Express Grave Fears for His Life

SECLUSION ORDERED

Gloom Prevails Over Studio; All Activity Is Suspended

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 28—Charles Chaplin, famous comedian of the silver sheet, was battling death early today. Spinal influenza developed in the renowned actor's condition, following a relapse in his illness from ptomaine poisoning, it was reported.

Physicians expressed grave fears for his life.

Dr. Cecil Reynolds, in charge of the comedian's case, remained at his bedside throughout the night. Chaplin's palatial residence was closely guarded from outside intrusion, while all telephone communication with the house was suspended.

The noted player spent a restless night, according to reports at his studio in Hollywood. His temperature was high, steadily exceeding 101 degrees.

Orders Seclusion

Every known scientific device was brought into play to avert pneumonia, Dr. Reynolds said.

The doctor ordered strict seclusion for his patient and even his very close friends were not permitted to visit him. Extreme quiet and rest are necessary, it was explained.

Lita Grey Chaplin, the comedian's divorced wife, is reported to be in the middle west on a vaudeville tour. Studio officials would not divulge whether she was among those who have sent telegrams inquiring about Chaplin's condition. The Chaplins were divorced in August, 1927.

Chaplin's relapse, it was reported, resulted from the disobedience of his bedside attendants to physician's orders. It was said that his nurses and servants served him with solid foods, after liquid nourishment had been prescribed.

Condition Shows Decline

Heavy gloom pervaded the Chaplin studio, where all activity abruptly ceased last Monday when the star collapsed on the lot. Immediately after the collapse, the comedian was rushed to his home and all production work was suspended.

For two days Chaplin's condition was fairly encouraging. Then, at midnight Tuesday, the relapse came. Late yesterday afternoon the famed funny man was declared improving, but during the night, he tossed about on his bed, his condition showing a constant decline.

Deep anxiety was felt in the motion picture colony over the great actor's condition. The Chaplin studio was being flooded with telephone calls made by the ill comedian's many friends. Telegrams poured in from all parts of the country, expressing hopes for the actor's recovery.

SEVEN SAVED FROM FLAMES BY 2 MEN

Carry Members of Family to Safety Over Porch, Down Tree

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—Two men carried out an ingenious rescue of a mother and her seven children from a burning home here today.

William Gillery's son-in-law, Theopolis Danzy, living in the Gillery home, awoke to find the residence afire. Awaking Gillery, Mrs. Gillery, and their seven children Danzy informed them that escape by the stairway was cut off by flames.

Danzy proceeded to the front porch and climbed out on the limb of a tree. Gillery then passed each of the children to Danzy who lowered them to the ground. Mrs. Gillery escaped by the same route. The youngest child, a baby of 19 months, was dropped but is believed to have been not seriously injured.

FLYING MUSKETEERS TO ATTEND WEDDING

Report Lindy Has Sent Out Word to Fellow Quiet Birdmen

BY DAVID P SENTNER

(Copyright 1929 by I N S)

NEW YORK Feb 28—The whirring of airplane propellers will blend with the pealing of wedding bells at the nuptials of Col Charles A Lindbergh and Anne Morrow

For those flying musketeers of the air—the Quiet Birdmen of America—will be there with all motors going [illegible]

Lindbergh is one of the most active [illegible] of this secret fraternal organization of famous aviators

And these flying lads are secret No pedestrian has been known to crash one of their irregular meetings Perhaps that's how Lindy learned to keep his lips sealed concerning a certain romance

Like the historical musketeers the motto of the flying fraternity is all for one and one for all

Sends Word Out

Before [illegible] from Long Island or Mexico City with a wedding ring in his flying [illegible] Lindbergh sent the word around according to the story in circulation today that he expected his comrades to attend the ceremony Formal invitations would follow when date and place were announced

Who needs an invitation? grinned Bert Acosta who flew to Paris with Commander Richard E Byrd and Bernt Balchen also members of the Quiet Birdmen

Other members of this famous flying fraternity include Clarence Chamberlin George Haldeman Casey Jones Jimmy Doolittle and practically every well known aviator in America In addition foreign fliers who have gained fame have been made honorary members

Include Foreigners

These include Dieudonne Coste and Joseph LeBrix Frenchmen who flew from Paris to South America Sir Allan Cobham Britisher who flew from London to South Africa James Fitzmaurice and Hermann Koehl of the transatlantic Bremen flight

Of course certain members of the fraternity are scattered over the world at the present time Commander Byrd and Balchen are at the South Pole for instance But Fitzmaurice the Irishman arrived here the other day

Capt Harry Bruno one of the charter members of the Quiet Birdmen pointed out that being a secret organization their plans could not be made public

I imagine most of the boys will fly to Lindbergh's wedding if they are invited Bruno admitted

Not in Mexico City

Bruno intimated that the wedding would not take place in Mexico City Inasmuch as he was one of Lindbergh's advisors when the flying youth returned from his conquest of the Atlantic Bruno might know something

He also pointed out that Lindbergh wore the quiet birdmen's pin when he returned from Paris—he only decoration he displayed And after President Coolidge pinned the flying cross on Lindbergh the latter still wore the Quiet Birdmen's pin beneath it Bruno asserted

The pin has not been noticed as being worn by Lindbergh lately which recalls that it is a romantic custom in collegiate circles to permit your fiancee to wear your fraternity pin

"I light a Lucky and stay slender—

Hope Hampton

Hope Hampton, Famous Star of the Opera, Stage and Screen

Hope Hampton, Famous Star of the Opera Stage and Screen.

"Luckies have helped me win the laurel crown of my musical career—singing in opera. Stage presence demands a slim, youthful figure. Rich foods cannot tempt me. I light a Lucky and stay slender. The toasted flavor of a Lucky soothes the craving for goodies. Then, too, a Lucky never irritates my throat. Even, after smoking many, my voice is still clear."

HOPE HAMPTON

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

LET THIS AMAZING NU-ERB END YOUR SUFFERING, TOO

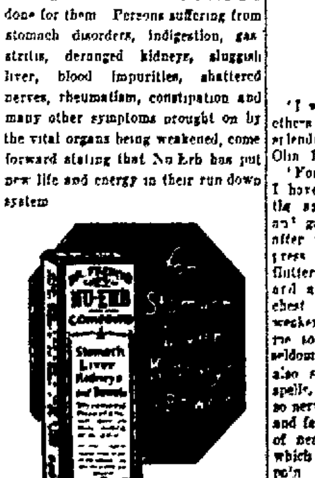
Persons Who Once Suffered from Constipation, Gastritis, Nervousness, Weak Kidneys, Sluggish Liver, Headaches, Rheumatism and Neuritis, Openly Declare the Great Herb Remedy—Nu-Erb Has Given Grand Satisfaction

To Every Sufferer the Advice Is Given to Go to Stump & Sams Pharmacy, Get Nu-Erb and Begin the Treatment Today!

No medicine ever introduced here has caused so much local comment in so short a time as has Dr French's Nu Erb the well known herbal remedy being introduced at Stump & Sams Pharmacy No medicine has ever met with such a profound success Everywhere it is offered for sale it springs into almost instant popularity and thousands marvel at its powers to relieve them of the trouble from which they had tried in vain for years to rid themselves

Thousands have asked what is the secret? What is the answer? There is only one answer Genuine merits and honest principles Nu Erb is made from twelve of the most valuable herbs roots and leaves from the vegetable kingdom They are no secret They are published on every Nu Erb carton They may be seen on display any day at Stump & Sams pharmacy The Nu Erb specialist located there has advised hundreds of local people how best to take Nu Erb and they have secured prompt relief from many different ailments which no other medicine has been able to relieve You may read below the letters of a few of the prominent local citizens who are daily praising this remarkable medicine

Never a day passes now but what some person tells the Nu Erb man at Stump & Sams Pharmacy of the wonderful good Dr French's Nu Erb has done for them Persons suffering from stomach disorders, indigestion, gastritis, deranged kidneys, sluggish liver, blood impurities, shattered nerves, rheumatism, constipation and many other symptoms brought on by the vital organs being weakened, come forward stating that Nu Erb has put new life and energy in their run down system



"IT'S O K! DID WONDERS FOR ME," SAYS LOCAL MAN IN PRAISE OF NU-ERB

CAPT JOHN W MASON

Hundreds of men and women in this section are being helped back to better health and strength by using the new herbal medicine, Dr French's Nu Erb which is being introduced in Marion by the Nu Erb man at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and which is growing daily in popularity because of its certain action on the stomach kidneys liver and bowels Men and women in all walks of life are using and recommending this modern medicine For example here is the statement of Captain John W Mason 580 E Center St Marion Ohio

"Nu Erb has certainly done all that was claimed for it in my case and for that reason I gladly recommend it" said Captain Mason "For ten years or more I had been suffering from indigestion and distress in my stomach after meals It seemed that no matter how careful I was of my diet this gas persisted in forming and caused me much distress because of heartburn and a continual bloated suffocating feeling My kidneys were also in a weakened condition and I'd get frequent pains across my back and they disturbed me several times each night I suffered from dizzy spells severe headaches and constipation I was very nervous couldn't sleep at night and my entire system became generally rundown

"Nu Erb has completely ended the indigestion and other distress in my stomach It has strengthened my kidneys so that I have no trouble in that way and it has also put an end to the dizzy spells headaches and constipation My nerves are steady now I sleep soundly all night long and I am feeling like a new man in every respect. I gladly recommend it"

WEST CENTER ST. LADY HIGHLY PLEASED WITH THE RESULTS OBTAINED

"I will gladly recommend it so that others may know the merits of this splendid medicine" said Mrs J. W. Olin 180 W Center st Marion Ohio

"For longer than I can remember I have never been free from the the agonizing distress of indigestion and gas formations in my stomach after meals This gas seemed to press up against my heart causing fluttering shortness of breath, pain and a choking feeling through my chest My kidneys were in a very weakened condition they disturbed me so often at night that it was seldom I got a good night's sleep I also suffered from staggering dizzy spells, severe headaches and I became so nervous that I was restless, irritable and felt tired and worn out A form of neuritis settled in my shoulders, which caused a distressing, burning pain

"For many years I have been using medicines It seems to me that I have never found it possible to get along without them yet at the same time there was none of them that ever gave me anything more than temporary relief and the actual troubles kept growing worse from year to year I had become to know so much about these advertised medicines that when I read about Nu Erb, I decided that it was no doubt, like all the rest, but even at that I decided to give it a trial and it was not long before I found out that Nu Erb is different, for it has given me the most decided relief from these stomach, kidney and liver troubles that I have ever had In fact, I can now eat many things that I wouldn't even dare touch before and it digests without causing me any trouble from indigestion, gas or heartburn My kidneys have been helped so that I sleep the whole night through. Nu-Erb has also put an end to the dizzy spells, neuritis, headaches and it has strengthened my nerves so that I have practically no trouble in that way

"A Pleasure To Recommend It," Says Local Man

MR C W TRAXLER

Among them is Mr C W Traxler 612 Park st Marion Ohio who is employed by the Blue Limestone Quarry

"For the past eleven years I have been a chronic victim of stomach kidney and liver troubles" said Mr Traxler "Gas formed in what seemed like a huge lump in the pit of my stomach causing me much distress and severe pains This condition persisted no matter how careful I was of my diet, and I suffered misery from one meal to the next My kidneys were very weak and I was troubled with a dull, aching pain across my back, staggering dizzy spells, floating spots before my eyes and sickening billious attacks I became extremely nervous, slept poorly at night and awakened each morning with a splitting headache Rheumatism settled in my joints and muscles and they would become stiff, sore and swollen.

"For many years I had been troubled in this way and although I used all kinds of medicine I am here to say that Nu Erb is the first one to give me any relief for it has surely done wonders for me in a remarkably short time. It has entirely overcome the indigestion, gas, sourness and all other distress and pains in my stomach. My kidneys are apparently much stronger, the pains have left my back and they do not disturb me at night as they use to I no longer get those dreaded dizzy spells or spots before my eyes My nerves are steady. I sleep soundly at night and I have not had a headache since using Nu-Erb. This medicine has also given me wonderful relief from the rheumatism. It has improved by appetite and my bowels are acting more regular than they have for many years."

A representative from the Nu-Erb Laboratories now making his headquarters at Stump & Sams Pharmacy will gladly explain the merits of this great remedy.

"KONJOLA WENT TO THE SOURCE OF MY AILMENTS"

Complication of Disease Reigned Unchecked For Two Years—New Medicine Brings First Relief

MR. LEWIS STEWART

"Konjola went right to the source of my ailments, ailments that had defied and defeated every other treatment tried in two years," said Mr. Lewis Stewart, O[illegible], Ohio, near Dayton. "Two bottles of Konjola made a new man of me.

"A combination of stomach, liver and kidney troubles had just made a wreck of me. I was under weight, nervous and tired all the time. My stomach was in a highly acid condition, nothing digested, gas formed, bloating followed. Bilious spells were frequent, black spots danced before my eyes. Kidney pains pierced my body like knives. I was in this condition when I started taking Konjola.

"This medicine went [illegible] Day by day my stomach became stronger [illegible] liver began to function as it should, as did the kidneys. LINDY FLIES AGAIN DESPITE INJURIES him over Mexico City. The Lone Eagle brought the little biplane down to a perfect landing on Valbuena field.

Takes His Fiancee for Pleasure Trip Over Valley

Lindbergh called the attention of one of the field mechanics to some slight defect of the machine.

The mechanic tinkered with the motor for a moment. Then Lindbergh tuned up the motor and a moment later was away again on a second flight.

This time he shot the little biplane up on a steep climb until he had reached considerable altitude. After remaining high up in the sky for 10 minutes he swooped like a great bird coming almost down to the level of the field and then climbed again circling about the field for some time.

Regains Compose

He landed the second time at 10:50 o'clock.

Again he brought the biplane down to a three point landing and taxied lazily across the field.

As soon as he had brought the plane to a stop Lindy climbed out of the cockpit and then assisted Anne from the plane. They walked over to the embassy automobile and climbed into it. This time Anne took the wheel for the drive back to the embassy.

Neither of them had anything to say but it was noticeable that she had completely regained her composure and was smiling brightly as the car started away.

Pose for Pictures

However, before they left the field an enterprising motion picture cameraman held them up for a moment and both Lindy and his bride to be obligingly posed for pictures.

This was in sharp contrast to the action of the Mexican army officials yesterday in confiscating and destroying all photographs of the crash of Lindbergh's plane.

Cablegrams congratulating them upon their miraculous escape from death or serious injury today poured in on Col. Lindbergh and Miss Morrow from prominent persons all over the world.

Many of the congratulatory messages urged the colonel to give up flying so that he would not continue to subject himself to danger in the form of unavoidable accidents similar to that which occurred yesterday when his plane somersaulted upon landing here owing to a missing landing wheel.

The famous airman's right arm today was in a sling as a result of the accident. He suffered a dislocated shoulder and a slightly sprained and lacerated wrist.

Ann Wan and Pale

His fiancee who as the fates would have it was with him in the first serious crash he suffered since his New York to Paris hop which brought him fame looked wan and pale today apparently suffering from nervous reaction.

Miss Morrow, her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, wife of the American ambassador and Colonel Lindbergh are expected to leave for the Morrow country home at Cuernavaca soon. There the betrothed couple will recuperate from the effects of the accident with a romantically beautiful subtropical background to aid them.

The colonel will be unable to fly again for a week or two according to physicians. But the Lone Eagle may spring one of his frequent surprises by going aloft sooner.

Praise His Skill

His skill and coolness were being widely praised today. After the accident his one thought was for Miss Morrow's safety. He did not reveal his own injuries at all. They were discovered by a physician who examined him after treating Miss Morrow for shock at the American embassy.

The accident was the second of two sensations which the famous colonel and his bride to be caused here yesterday. The first was the departure of the couple in the colonel's plane, destination unrevealed. After the crash embassy officials stated that the couple had flown to a town in the state of Puebla and had done some shopping there.

Although Colonel Lindbergh was his usual reticent self after the crash dismissing it with—"It's an accident which might have happened to anybody in any place anytime"—embassy attaches to whom he was more loquacious revealed the events leading up to the crash.

Wheel Falls Off

Soon after leaving the Puebla town the colonel discovered that the right wheel had loosened in taking off and had fallen off.

He immediately realized the seriousness of the situation. There were no parachutes in the plane. A landing had to be made on one wheel, a dangerous feat at 7,000 feet above sea level, for in the thin air of that altitude all landings must be made unusually fast.

The colonel informed Miss Morrow that they might have some trouble in landing. He piled cushions about her to protect her from shock and flying glass.

Approaching the field he signalled to the aviators below and then landed keeping his plane tipped over on the left side to shift as much weight as possible on the one wheel. After rolling about 100 feet the plane turned a complete somersault, landing right side up. It was badly damaged.

Drive Back to Field

Those on the field who rushed to the plane found the colonel already out and helping his fiancee from the plane. Despite his injury, he drove her to the embassy himself. There his injury was discovered and he was rushed to the Lady Coudray hospital where his shoulder was set.

The colonel made light of his injuries and later drove his fiancee back to the field despite the fact that one arm was in a sling.

After inspecting the damaged plane, they gathered up a pile of serape which Miss Morrow had purchased in Puebla and drove off.

Government authorities seized and destroyed all pictures and films of the damaged plane.

Court of Appeals Holds Session Here Today for Review of Local Cases

Benzler Ditch Case Dismissed Without Argument, Verdict of County Court Reversed in Savings Bank Suit Against Iler; Ritter Will Case To Be Heard

Appeal and error cases carried from the Marion county common pleas court to the district court of appeals were being heard here today by Judges Kent W. Hughes, Charles L. Justice and [illegible] M. Crow. The court opened its session shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Work of the court was decreased when the Benzler ditch case was dismissed without argument. The case involves a county ditch in the southern part of the county. It was dismissed [illegible] of the Pennsylvania railroad, the objector. Attorney J. H. [illegible] represented the railroad. Prosecuting Attorney Alfred D. [illegible] represented the county.

Case Continued

The case of the State Industrial commission against William Harruff was continued when the attorney for the commission was unable to be here. The case will be held in Lima some time after March 9. Mrs. Harruff was awarded a verdict of more than $1,000 in common pleas court here last fall as compensation for the death of her husband as a result of injuries sustained while he was employed by the Marion Steam Shovel Co. The commission appealed the verdict. Mrs. Harruff is represented by Attorney [illegible] W. Jacoby. Assistant Attorney General A. H. Zumer's and Prosecuting Attorney Alfred D. [illegible] represent the commission.

First Case Argued

The first case to be argued was the error case of A. C. Thompson against John H. Gunder. Thompson is represented by Attorney Homer L. Johnson. Attorney Louis F. Myers represents Gunder. Thompson, who brought suit in common pleas court against Gunder for a judgment of $500, appealed the verdict for Gunder on error. The court will decide the case later.

this morning according to officials of the company. Passengers are being transferred to buses at Newmans and [illegible] a point south of Prospect where connections are again made with the traction line.

Situation in Village

The slight drop in the water level at Prospect has not yet relieved the village to any extent. Water still covered North Elm st. as far as the Baptist church. The south end of the street was covered nearly to the township house.

Two detours on the interurban bus route between Marion and Findlay were discontinued this morning after water covering the road in two places had receded. Yesterday Mang Bros buses were forced to detour between Marion and Upper Sandusky and Carey and Findlay.

The Harding Highway east of Marion has been open since early yesterday. The highway is also open between Marion and Kenton. The Delaware road is open.

Replacing Bridge

Hardin county engineers today commenced work in replacing the McClain bridge over the Scioto river east of Kenton which was swept from its foundations by ice jams during flood conditions this week.

The structure having a span of 110 feet was forced several feet from its abutments by the heavy ice swept by swirling flood waters.

Through efforts of farmers of the neighborhood and county engineers the Pfeiffer station and Heyburn bridges over the Scioto were undamaged by the ice cakes carried on the swift current of the river.

Weather Forecast

The weather forecast for tonight and Friday is light rain or snow and colder. The mercury reached the 37 degree mark yesterday. A year ago high was 41. Low last night was 2[illegible] as compared with 25 for a year ago.

Road Situation Is Reported Improved

All state and national highways in Ohio flood districts that have been either closed or are hardly passable had been put back into fairly good shape by early this morning according to reports received here today by Mrs. D. A. Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Auto club.

The condition of national roads in the different sections of the state is described as follows: route 40, through Zanesville is open to traffic; route 40 to Brandt is open, route 40 two detours at Spring Valley; 23, detour north of Circleville and Waverly to Piketon; 30, "travel at your own risk" over temporary bridges west of Wooster; 25, unofficially reported open.

State routes are as follows: 201, to Dayton is open; 4, Springfield to Dayton, is closed. 3, Cincinnati detours at Era and Wilmington to Clarksville; 11, closed from Chillicothe to Jackson, 31, open at Nelsonville; 16, open to Hanover, closed beyond that point. 95, closed, from Millersburg to Coshocton; 77, closed north and south of Zanesville; New Philadelphia closed on all sides with exception of No 250 to junction with No 16; all roads out of Marion open with exception of No 4 to Prospect; 20, Urbana and Piqua is open; all roads through Muskingum valley were closed at noon today.

the financial angels of the Hoover campaign in the south and for a time was talked of for the navy. In having been a classmate of Secretary Wilbur's at Annapolis.

The job that is said to be giving Mr. Hoover most concern is agriculture. Since Secretary Jardine elected to retire and enter private business Mr. Hoover has been casting about for his successor and giving consideration to many men. If he has made up his mind the fact is not known. The leading possibilities are considered to be A. J. Glover, Wisconsin dairyman, farmer; [illegible] Taber of Ohio, master of the national grange, and former Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie of Nebraska.

Talk of Meyer

There has also been some talk of Eugene Meyer, head of the Federal Farm Loan bureau. Meyer is a financier rather than a farmer, but Mr. Hoover is said to believe that a marketing specialist would be more valuable in the position than a farmer anyway.

The selection of Good for the war department occasioned some surprise until it became known that the Iowan is to be Mr. Hoover's liason officer to Capitol Hill. Good served many years in the house and upon his voluntary retirement a few years ago was chairman of the powerful appropriations committee. He was regarded as one of the real leaders of the house. Mr. Hoover believes that his contacts there will be of invaluable aid to the administration.

LONG ILLNESS FATAL TO G. W. ORAHOOD

Funeral Services for N State st Resident To Be Held Friday

George Washington Orahood, age 76, died yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his home, 791 North State st. Death came after a period of ill health that had extended over the last six years.

He was born on Oct. 17, 1852 in Allen county to George and Anna Hilliards Orahood. On Nov. 12, 1881 he married Anna Griffin. He was a member of the Emmanuel Baptist church.

Mr. Orahood is survived by his widow and two sons, Donald C., 193 Elk av., and Mervyn D., North Main st.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Emmanuel Baptist church. The Rev. James G. Peard will be in charge, assisted by the Rev. S. P. Porter. Interment will be made in Marion cemetery.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr Edwards produced Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr Edwards a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old time enemy discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel just a healing, soothing, vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation you'll find quick sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr Edwards Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them 15c 30c 60c—

An Easy Way to Get Enough Vegetables!

SOME people know all about the value of various vegetables, and the reader may know just which vegetables aid the inner system most. But it's another thing to eat them in sufficient quantities! Why not get the benefit of their goodness in the pleasant form of syrup pepsin?

Were you ever told there is as much good in a spoon of plain syrup pepsin as one would get from a basketful of vegetables? Those who have learned this secret of good health don't have to pamper their stomachs or whip up their bowels with strong medicines. They seldom, if [illegible] have liver trouble and can [illegible] eat anything.

Investigate syrup pepsin [illegible] you give up rich foods or go [illegible] dull vegetable diet. Just take [illegible] spoonful of syrup pepsin now [illegible] then—and forget everything else [illegible] your appetite at the table. If [illegible] have never made the syrup pepsin test ten days may do surprising things for you—no matter how you may feel now. Children [illegible] helped wonderfully by this same [illegible]ful combination of laxative herbs [illegible] pure pepsin. Older people ward [illegible] auto-intoxication the same way. [illegible] is more than fifty years since [illegible] Caldwell gave the world this [illegible]scription, yet today there is no dru[illegible]gist who hasn't it all put up [illegible] ready for you with directions—[illegible]

Lumbago Had Me Almost Crazy

The pain in my back and the sudden stitches had me bent double. Sometimes the pain would catch me so sharply I almost fainted. I was frantic trying one thing after another. You can imagine my surprise my joy when plain St Jacob's Oil brought me the relief I had sought for years.

St Jacob's Oil gives almost instant relief from soreness stiffness lameness and pain. Its action is unique—soothing and penetrating in one. Goes direct to the affected part and draws out all the "ouch." It is one remedy for Lumbago Rheumatism Neuritis etc that never disappoints. And it doesn't burn the skin. Get a small trial bottle of "St Jacob's Oil" from any drug store and try it out.—Adv.

Hog Treatment Comes High

In response to the plea of a woman resident of Beloit Wisconsin the circuit court of Chicago has granted a temporary injunction restraining a woman psychologist of the latter city from collecting notes amounting to $1,500 given the psychologist by the complainant for absent thought treatment to effect the cure of a drove of the plaintiff's hogs suffering from the cholera

The plaintiff told the court that she had taken the absent thought treatment with seeming beneficial effect when suffering from a nervous breakdown The treatment seemed to prove equally efficacious when a pet dog owned by her became ill and later a team of horses fretting from harness sores showed improvement during the course of the long distance treatment

What more natural than that she seeing her hogs attacked by the cholera should seek the same treatment to cure them from the ill from which they suffered

But while the absent thought treatment or something or other worked to her satisfaction in her own case and the cases of her dog and her horses the plaintiff asserted that it manifestly didn't take in the cases of her sorely afflicted hogs which instead of recovering turned up their toes and died

The plaintiff then went on to explain to the court that as she had paid the Chicago woman "absent thought" treatment artist $2,500 in cash she did not feel that she should be compelled to pay the additional $1,500 represented by the notes the payment of which was subsequently held up temporarily by the order of the court

Most readers are familiar with the famed monkey trial in Tennessee and the witch murder trial over in Pennsylvania And now a Wisconsin woman gives up $2,[illegible] in cash and $1,500 in notes to effect the cure of her hogs afflicted by cholera! And this in the twentieth century Really it is somewhat difficult to credit reports of cases such as these.

White Cross System Abandoned.

State Highway Di[illegible] has decided to di[illegible] placing white crosses [illegible] at points where fatalities [illegible] result of traffic accidents and [illegible] was of Ohio are soon to [illegible] which has differentiated them from [illegible] of most if not all of [illegible] union

What the impelling reason [illegible] to cause the director to reach [illegible] decision is not known to us If the abandonment [illegible] cross idea is an economy [illegible] an inexpensive one for the cost [illegible] and placing all the crosses [illegible] inconsequential in comparison with the [illegible] millions which have been expended [illegible] development of the improved highways of the state It is possible that were all facts known the crosses may have been well worth all expended on them As a valued exchange editorially holds if the crosses have resulted in the saving of one human life they have proved worth all they cost the state and more We agree with this provided they have not been a liability as well as an asset

When the cross system was inaugurated under the administration of Governor Donahey the thought was that the crosses would have a salutary effect upon the naturally careless both motorists and pedestrians that they would prove reminders of the possible results of recklessness that they would impress the value of safety first upon all

The highway director may feel that they have not accomplished the end for which they were designed He may feel that they have become so numerous as to have become commonplace and thus have lost any value they once may have possessed If he feels thus he naturally figures that with the greatly increased traffic they are bound to multiply further lessening any good effect they once may have had

And this brings us back to the possibility that the crosses may have wrought harm rather than good

Motorists may be roughly divided into two classes those who think and those who do not It is hardly probable that the crosses make any impression on the latter class—the indifferent the careless the reckless The thinking class—those who desire to drive carefully—may be sub divided into two general classes those who need no cautioning signs to cause them to drive carefully and those who want to drive carefully but who are naturally nervous and excitable those to use a slang term who easily become rattled We have often wondered what the possible effect of the multiplicity of crosses along our highways may have on the latter class Psychological effects are at times very strong as the average man or woman who has ridden a bicycle will be willing to admit upon recalling what often happened when as a beginner they saw a big stone or other obstacle ahead of them in the roadway

The unfortunate phase of the cross experiment if we may be permitted to call it that is that no one knows what if any good it may have worked what if any harm it may have done In the absence of this knowledge the director is probably following his best judgment in the matter and such is the situation that probably neither he nor the public will ever know whether his judgment is good or bad

About all that can be predicted is that the entire matter is so clouded by uncertainty that his course will reap neither enthusiastic approval and commendation nor caustic criticism and reproach

Diseases Baffling Scientists.

BY ROYAL S COPELAND M D

Some diseases are named after the men who first described them Most of such ailments are obscure and rarely met When we deal with common troubles creating definite and well localized symptoms they are given names which correspond usually to the particular parts of the body involved

There are two of these rare diseases which I shall mention today I speak of them together not because they are at all alike but because they bear the names of their discoverers

The first is Hodgkin Disease This was named for Dr Thomas Hodgkin who practiced a century ago

It is marked by enlargement of certain glands the lymph glands Swelling in the neck is the most common evidence of its presence

If we have a swelling somewhere in the body and it becomes red and sensitive we give it immediate attention If it is just something under the skin something freely moveable but not sore we give it little attention It is just this sort of swelling that in very rare instances may be an early sign of Hodgkin's disease

Swellings—tumors as the doctors call them—should receive attention Early neglect is responsible for serious later effects Immediate attention will overcome almost every one of the human disabilities

In the disease we are discussing temperature develops after a while Chills and sweating are the symptoms

Addison's Disease was first described by Dr Thomas Addison an English physician who practiced nearly a hundred years ago His account of this ailment was so complete it has never been bettered

In this disturbance the most marked sign is a peculiar bronzing of the skin There are general symptoms including weakness and debility feeble action of the heart indigestion anemia and feelings of prostration

The whole skin area may be involved Even the lining of the mouth and lips may be effected

In a sense it is like tuberculosis There is loss of weight The blood pressure is low The breathing is difficult

In Addison's disease the adrenal glands glands located near the kidneys do not function as they should When we learn more about the ductless glands we shall know more about how to deal with this disease

One of the most encouraging things about medicine is that there are research workers all the time alert to discover the causes of these rather mysterious ailments In the course of their labors they are certain to hit upon secrets and then ways will be found to apply appropriate treatment

In the meantime we must regard Hodgkin's disease and Addison's disease as two of our problems

Editorial Opinion.

MEXICAN CONDITIONS

Economic conditions in Mexico seem to be going constantly from bad to worse The agrarian policy is proving to be the ruin of agricultural production the shutting down of petroleum operations and the Mexicanizing of manufacturing and other foreign owned business has resulted in widespread unemployment and its corollary—acute distress

Looked at from either a financial or a humanitarian point of view the situation is far from pleasing There is about $1,100,000,000 of American money in Mexico Some of it is in government state municipal and corporate securities on which there is a huge total of defaulted interest Some is in proprietary investments many of which are being ruined by the policy of the government

A large proportion of that $1,100,000,000 is unproductive even if not absolutely lost This is a matter in which all have an interest, none are excepted Our high standard of living and material welfare even the maintenance of our schools and churches and the contributions those churches make to the cause of missions are dependent upon the income from production

Capital in ever increasing amounts is necessary for our productive uses Capital is saved income Money invested abroad and earning interest is increasing our supply of capital which in turn makes possible a further increase in our productivity Rendering unproductive a billion dollars in Mexico or elsewhere inevitably affects our supply of capital on which depends the ability to employ labor and produce goods

Mexico in addition to ruining herself is ruining a large part of the foreign investments made there Before the revolutionary regime obtained control American enterprise gave plentiful employment and relatively high wages to thousands of Mexican laborers These American industries also established and maintained good schools for the children of their workmen

The present regime has done away with these conditions The oil activities are greatly curtailed mining is at a low ebb and other American enterprises are being forced out or else into Mexican control that immediately reestablishes the old time starvation wage With the passing of American control the schools are closed with none established in their place and unemployment is general the country over The agrarian policy has discouraged cultivation of the land resulting in a marked decline in production of foodstuff

In such a state of progressive misery neither business nor humanitarianism can find anything that is satisfactory —Wall Street Journal

ACTION ON THE POLICE BILL

The Ackerman bill providing for a state constabulary in a division of public safety has been passed by the senate and now is before the lower chamber of the general assembly The vote of twenty to six in the senate is an indication of the sentiment regarding this extremely important measure What little opposition was shown in the final vote such as that of Mr Bender can not be taken seriously for it does not represent any significant element of the people Labor the farmer the motorist and the public have shown themselves to be ardently for a state police with comprehensive powers

The threat of a referendum on the Ackerman bill is not a matter of consequence for public opinion is certain to approve the bill Indeed it is most likely that the threat of a referendum is not more than a threat and will never be carried out It is now up to the house to act and act promptly on the measure With the striking vote in the senate the certainty of approval by the governor and the unanimity of public sentiment it would be nothing but the grossest negligence and indolence on the part of representatives if the project were to fail of passage in the house

Ohio has made an important and auspicious beginning for a great movement to make law enforcement a reality It remains to see that the task is carried out to its logical conclusion The Enquirer urges prompt and decisive action in the Ohio house of representatives and then active measures by the executive to make effective the provisions of this much needed law —Cincinnati Enquirer

It is but fair to record many great stars have married happily—Marguerite [illegible] Laurette Taylor Mrs Fiske Henrietta Crosman and others—but they are rather the conspicuous exception and not the rule The usual stage marriage lasts about two years statistics show

The other day I talked to a worthy and saddened gentleman who married a public pet and was in a year divorced "It seems to me" he said "our case was more a problem for the psychiatrist than a divorce judge My wife had everything she wished We were congenial and deeply in love

"Yet a month after our marriage she became silent and given to spells of melancholia She was interested only in the theater and its activities At last she told me her professional career meant more than anything else and returned to it Her vanity outweighed her love"

There are oodles of cafes the New York gadabout does not know exist Yet they are always filled They are the sort advertised in the outcountry as gay and a little Parisian and make no appeal to a local clientele They have a mardi gras manner—releasing colored balloons and entwining dancers in showers of confetti at midnight Along Broadway they are called "gyp traps" although not given to gypping trick of those catering to sophisticates About their only difference from the average cafe is you are not so likely to see Harry K Thaw

The shooting of Arnold Rothstein was convincing enough Broadway gunmen—like the Northwest Mounted—get their man For years Rothstein was reported marked for the bullet All who write of Broadway heard such whispers from the underworld Today the ace of gamblers is reviled the length of Broadway as a double crosser and doubtless deservedly yet there is one instance—from an authentic source—where he played square A prominent Californian lost $250,000 at a roulette wheel in a Rothstein gambling house A colored attendant to whom he had bestowed favors told him the game was crooked on certain nights The servant signalled him during a crooked play and the player grabbed the wheel and upset it finding the ancient trick—the invisible horsehair stop lock manipulated by the croupier Rothstein was called in and shown the trickery He denied knowing about it returned the loser $150,000 in cash and immediately closed the place Several other losers were returned big sums without asking

And incidentally the new police regime has been exciting and good clean fun—terrific traffic changes a promise to rip up to elevated towers a swat for sidewalk speculators and other fumididdles Yet many of us nosey fuss budgets wonder what has become of the Rothstein slayer Those ugly rumors will persist of protection high up

An Astronomical Capitol.

BY GARRETT P SERVISS

The friends of popular education in the ideals of life are striving to have a telescope mounted in a dome to crown the great tower of the new state capitol at Lincoln Nebraska which rises 400 feet above the pavement There is something inspiring in this idea Objection is made that the summit of a lofty tower would furnish too unstable a base for an astronomical telescope But the heavy tower looks sufficiently strong and steady while extreme absence of all motion would not be necessary for a telescope intended to serve such purposes as are set forth in this one It is not intended for fine measurements or for delicate researches but for popular intellectual stimulus and instruction Everywhere exists the often expressed desire of thousands to look at the heavens through a telescope It is a desire that ought to be gratified whenever possible It would be easy to combine a modest program of simple observations that would have real scientific and educational value with the use of the telescope and its accessories, under proper guidance by hundreds who would obtain valuable mental incentives from it

There are abundant occasions when such an observatory could be employed to supplement the work of the regular institutions especially in the direction of publicity for astronomical events and unexpected phenomena such as the appearance of new comets or the occurrence of remarkable eclipses or meteoric phenomena, or uncommon and significant appearances of any kind in the heavens

A telescope is an instrument of power over the imagination If a man but looks once in his life through a large telescope at objects sunken in the depths of space he is likely to receive an impression that will endure as long as he lives and become stronger with the lapse of time He will never forget that once he saw with all the strength of vision that human science could lend him things hidden from humanity by the awful veil of distance

There are times when a wonderful new star appears The spectra of such stars as seen in the observatories are often of strange beauty and their significance is not hard to be explained to the layman But he has no chance to see such things in the endowed observatories of the professional researches in astronomy The marvellous red flames of the solar protuberances can be easily viewed with a simple spectroscope attached to a good telescope But good telescopes are not common possessions nor is the slight skill required to manipulate them with the accessories widespread But a public telescope managed by a capable director, would supply this sort of object lessons in astronomy

It would be capable of arousing enthusiastic public interest when a great new comet was displaying the marvels of its fiery head glittering with jets of light or expanding in concentric shells of glowing gases and sending out behind its streaming tails millions of miles in length as it faced the torrent of the sun's repulsion The layman reads of these things doubting and wondering but he has no means of beholding them He sees only the ominous curving tail of the tormented comet—the least substantial thing about it—swaying dimly across the stars but its fight for life with the solar giant whose court it has invaded he sees not for that is only visible from the observatories

In a hundred ways a telescope so placed as that which they wish to have in the city of Lincoln would deeply serve the intellectual interests of the citizens It would be an honor to the city and to the state It would help to convince some of our critical friends in Europe that there are no higher aims than those of young America —Copyright 1929 International Feature Service Inc

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON

Dispatches say Polish women in the outskirts of Warsaw capital city wrecked five stores Proprietors were accused of overcharging In these civilized days of conferences and polite ineffective organization efforts one is attracted by this direct action These women got results One can't entirely defend them It is always better to get results within the law and to do without them if you can't get them that way But there will always be an answering note of sympathy from most of us who would now and then in a good cause like to break a window to get what we want

Important Bills Face Defeat As Filibusters Wrack Senate

EFFORTS TO CLEAN SLATE ARE RESUMED

Seventieth Congress Staggers Toward Demise on March 4

MEMBERS ARRESTED

Appointments, Radio Laws and Appropriations Caught in Jam

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 — [illegible] filibusters, its program of important legislation [illegible] with defeat, the dying [illegible] congress convulsively staggered along today toward its constitutional death March 4.

With two filibusters successful, a third abandoned and at least three more yet to be faced, the senate met at 11 o'clock this morning to take up its legislative cudgels where it left off at 2:10 a. m. after a continuous session of 15 hours and 40 minutes.

Presidential appointments, the life of the federal radio commission and appropriation bills, totaling a half billion dollars, were caught in the legislative jam.

House Program Easier

The house had a much easier program facing it. This included the Jones bill, levying a five year penalty on bootleggers, the Edge resolution for a Nicaraguan canal survey and conference reports on the same half billion dollars worth of appropriation bills.

In its long session, which lasted half the night, the senate had a dramatic time. Warrants were issued for the arrest of absentee senators, night returns were read on the floor, arguments wehere held galore, blankets were issued to senator for naps in the cloakrooms and theater parties entertained in the galleries.

The results of the long session were:

1. Abandonment of the house reapportionment bill, awarding victory to a filibuster launched by southern senators under Harrison, of Mississippi.

To Conduct Inquiry

2. Adoption of resolutions, extending the senate inquiry into Indian affairs, awarding victory to a filibuster conducted by Senators Frazier Republican of North Dakota, and Wheeler Democrat of Montana.

3. Smashing of a filibuster, conducted by Senator Dill Democrat of Washington, aided by insurgents, against a $150,000 item in the $100,000,000 second deficiency appropriation bill for the Nicaraguan canal survey.

4. Adoption of the conference report on the $[illegible] Naval appropriation bill, which included funds to start construction of 15 new cruisers.

5. Agreement by the senate public lands committee to send all evidence on the Salt Creek oil leases to the department of justice for investigation and criminal prosecutions, if it sees fit.

Sets Time for Vote

The dramatic session ended when Dill abandoned his fight and an agreement was reached to vote on the deficiency bill at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. Administration leaders had threatened to keep the senate in session throughout the night, had ordered absentees arrested and watched blankets distributed so senators could sleep in cloakrooms.

A little earlier, however, the second deficiency bill was emasculated of all items transferred into it from the first deficiency bill. By this action, the battle over the $24,000,000 appropriation for prohibition enforcement was restored to the first deficiency bill along with $102,000,000 of other items. A determined filibuster has been organized against this bill unless the dry fund is retained by the house. For a month, this bill has lain in a pigeonhole, due to a controversy between the senate and house conferees over the dry fund.

Filibuster Threatens

A second filibuster will threaten the bill, because of the house action in rejecting the McKellar senate amendment, ordering publicity on all income tax refunds. Facing two filibusters, the fate of the bill is uncertain.

At 12:35 o'clock, a quorum call revealed only 44 senators in the chamber, four less than is necessary to transact business. The sergeant-at-arms was instructed to "request and if necessary, to compel, absent senators" to attend the session. Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, made the motion and then went out to sleep in a cloakroom. It took 27 minutes for the attaches to round up four more senators and Dill continued his verbal marathon.

Asks For Arrests

At 1:24, a. m., another quorum call showed only 42 senators present. Then while most of those present went back to sleep in the cloakrooms, Neely moved that warrants be issued for the arrest of all absentees. His motion was adopted unanimously. A half hour later the sergeant-at-arms reported that his men were out serving the warrants.

At 2:10 Norris came in from a nap; at 2:12 Brookhart entered, rubbing sleep out of his eyes. At 2:15, Blaine of Wisconsin, entered, wet from walking in the rain. At 2:16 Broussard of Louisiana, arrived, announcing to the world that he hadn't been arrested. That made a quorum and Dill resumed talking to an already emptied chamber.

A few minutes later, the sleepy-eyed senators were aroused by Wheeler proposing a unanimous consent agreement for a recess until 11 o'clock this morning.

FIRE IN COAL MINE QUENCHED BY FLOOD

Water from Swollen Stream Diverted by State Inspectors

SALEM, Feb. 28—It's an ill wind or flood that blows nobody good.

The flood which has brought thousands of dollars in property damage to Ohio "blew good" to Homer Callahan, Salem mine owner, when it enabled state mine inspectors to direct the course of a swollen stream down the slope of a mine which has been burning for the last two months. It is estimated that 400 gallons of water are rushing into the mine every minute.

When fire was discovered two months ago state inspectors sealed the mine. It was opened several days ago and the fire was still burning. The mine was again sealed.

The swollen stream offered another possible solution to the burning mine, which is said to be the worst in local history.

LOWER GIVES TALK

Local Druggist Addresses University Association

Clifton Lower, local druggist and president of the Marion County Pharmaceutical society, addressed 100 members of the Ohio Northern University Pharmaceutical association at its quarterly meeting held Tuesday in the Lutheran church at Ada. Mr Lower's talk was a practical discussion of pharmacy work. During the talk he told of some of the experiences they he pharmacist meets during the course of his daily business and how different it is from college work.

Mr Lower's talk was preceded by the quarterly banquet of the association which was served by the members of the ladies' society of the church.

Mr Lower was accompanied to Ada by two other Marion druggists, Floyd Shumaker and Victor Elsasser.

CONDUCT RITES

Life Resident of Wyandot County Succumbs to Illness

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 28—Funeral services for Miss Anna Williams, who died Monday night at the home of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs Ora Howard, were held this afternoon at the Howard home, east of here at 2 o'clock. The cause of her death was attributed to hardening of the arteries from which she had been ill several months.

Miss Williams was the daughter of Benjamin and Elizabeth Hitchcock Williams, both deceased, and was born August 23, 1846, in Salt Rock township, Marion county. She moved to this city about nine years ago. She is survived by one brother, Frank Williams, south of town. Four brothers and one sister are deceased.

Rev. C. F. Belz officiated and interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

PLAN MEETING

Girl Reserves and Hi-Y Boys To Meet at Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY, Feb. 28—The Girl Reserves met at the Y. M. C. A. last night, for their regular business meeting. A "pot-luck" supper was enjoyed, and reports from the Girl Reserve convention, held at Elyria last week, were given by Mary Louise Smith, Florence Smith, Mary Lou Hunter and Mrs. B. F. Main, who is leader of the organization.

The business session was in charge of the president, Margaret Hoopp, and it was decided that the painting and dramatic groups would meet Friday night. Plans were made for a joint meeting with the Hi-Y boys Sunday afternoon.

SHOW SHOPPING With JACK or JILL

BY JILL

JOHN BARRYMORE, Camilla Horn and Louis Wolheim in "The Tempest," through Saturday at the Oakland. United Artists production presented by Joseph M. Schenck.

THE love of a peasant for a princess and events leading to the Red Dawn in Russia are interwoven into a tensely dramatic story in which John Barrymore and Camilla Horn play the leading roles. The picture from a standpoint of direction, photography and scenic effect is a masterpiece of the screen and the story is portrayed with a reality seldom reached in cinema productions. The leads are supported by a cast rating as stars, unexcelled in their roles.

The story opens with a picture of military life in Russia, and the ambitious John striving for his commission of lieutenant in the army. His record, together with the admiration of the head of the Russian army, wins him the commission but not the friendship of his fellow officers.

"Once a peasant always a peasant" is the belief of the beautiful Tamara, daughter of the commandant, with whom Barrymore is in love, and he is made to feel his position more keenly by Tamara's banter.

THE tables change when the "people" assume the rule and wholesale slaughter of the aristocracy is the outcome of the revolt. The story concludes with the escape of Barrymore, Wolheim, his buddy, and Camilla, to the Austrian border.

THE torture of prison life in solitary confinement is excellently portrayed by Barrymore and it is in this particular episode of the picture that he rises to his greatest heights as the artist he is.

CITY BRIEFS

Meeting Held—The monthly meeting of the Railway Mail association and auxiliary was held last night at the home of Mr and Mrs Homer Liber, 183 Lincoln av., with Mrs. H. L. Rice as assistant hostess. Separate business meeting were held, followed by a social hour. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Lois Schrader.

Routine business was transacted and plans made to purchase new records for the building. The refreshment committee for the next meeting includes Miss Mary Curl, Mrs. Ted Longacre, Mrs S. A. Johnson, Mrs. Leonard Brady, Mrs. Claud Bosh, and Mrs. Selah McAdow.

VALUE OF ATHLETICS SHOWN BY SPEAKER

Wittenberg Director Addresses Kiwanians and High School Guests

The value of interscholastic and intercollegiate athletics was vividly pointed out to members of the Marion Kiwanis club by E. R. Godfrey, director of athletics of Wittenberg college, Springfield, at the weekly luncheon meeting of that organization today noon at the Marion club.

Members of the Harding high school basketball squad, coaches and managers were guests at the luncheon meeting which resolved itself into a pep meeting preparatory to the team entering the district tournament at Delaware tomorrow.

Mr. Godfrey stated that athletics must remain in the hands of the educators if continued growth is expected and then went on to point out that athletics are of educational value and do almost as much as the class room toward moulding the future of young men.

ASHLAND MAN WINS IN DAMAGE SUIT

Crawford County Jury Decides in Favor of E. E. Felger

BUCYRUS, Feb. 28—Out of a jury of six men and six women, nine signed a verdict for the defendant in the damage suit of Alberta and Albertine Bauer, Galion, and the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., against E. E. Felger, Ashland, arising out of an automobile crash on state route No. 30, near Galion, Oct. 30, 1927, heard in common pleas court here yesterday.

Felger based his defense on the grounds that the Bauer car made a sudden stop on the highway and that a rear end collision was absolutely unavoidable.

NO WEDDING TODAY

Angered Fiance Shoots Girl When He Sees Her With Friend

ST CLAIRSVILLE, Feb. 28—Thomas Weekly, 24, of Powhatan, near here, and Winifred Ramsey, 22, of Jacobsburg, were to have been married here today. Instead, the former is held in the Belmont county jail and the latter is in a critical condition in a hospital with five bullet founds.

Enraged when he noticed his fiancee sitting in an automobile with his best friend, Charles Gates, late last night, Weekly is alleged to have drawn a revolver and fired. All five chambers of the gun were empty when police examined the pistol. Gates was not shot.

The automobile was parked in front of the Ramsey home. In an explanation to authorities Gates said he had merely driven the girl home from a church revival service and had been parked only a short time when the shooting occurred.

UPPER SANDUSKY—The winner of the Wyandot County Class B basketball tournament and the runner-up, Wharton and Marseilles, will go to the district tournament at Lima March 1 and 2. The drawing will be held Friday morning at Lima.

POSTOFFICES FOR BUCYRUS, SHELBY

Marysville Named in List Should More Money Be Distributed

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—The recommendation of a joint treasury postoffice committee for a $150,000,000 authorization to complete needed building projects throughout the country will be considered by the house public lands committee, Rep. Richard Elliott (R) of Indiana, chairman, announced today.

The committee estimated the total public building needs of the country at $398,000,000 of which $248,000 has been authorized.

Bucyrus and Shelby are two of a number of Ohio towns which will share in the distribution of funds appropriated by congress for the erection of federal buildings, it is announced today. Marysville is among the list of towns mentioned should the next congress see fit to appropriate still more money to the federal building program.

The sum of $248,000,000 for new buildings throughout the country was authorized by congress as a result of a list of proposed structures which was submitted to the public buildings committee.

Bucyrus and Shelby will receive $100,000, while Fostoria will receive $110,000. Urbana will receive the sum of $120,000 while Lima has been apportioned $175,000. Ohio's total appropriation was $14,580,000.

The committee informed congress that to take care of all federal building needs, a total of $399,000,000 would be needed.

Other Cities

Other cities listed are:

Canton, $310,000; Cincinnati, $2,700,000, parcel post building; Cincinnati, $4,000,000, post office building; Cleveland, $3,100,000; Hamilton, $250,000; Springfield, $500,000; Toledo, $900,000; Wooster, $60,000; Youngstown, $310,000; Zanesville, $70,000; New Philadelphia, $100,000; Niles, $85,000; Mount Vernon, $110,000; Norwalk, $110,000; Ravenna, $100,000.

PLAN PARTY

Marengo Aid Members To Close Contest With Social Meet

MARENGO, Feb. 28—Members of the Sunshine side in a contest, will entertain members of the Gloomy side at a social meeting March 6, at the home of Mrs. Omar Grant. Those taking part in the contest are members of the Ladies Aid society.

Members of the Aid society were guests at a "hard time" party Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Richard Camp. Games and contests were enjoyed and lunch was served. The guests numbered 40.

DAVEY MAKES PLEA FOR EMMONS BILL

Recent Democratic Candidate Urges It Be Taken Out of Politics, However

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—A plea to guard against making the Emmons conservation bill a "mere political football" was made in an open letter sent to all members of Ohio's Republican legislature today by Congressman Martin L. Davey, Democrat of Kent, recently defeated candidate for the governorship of Ohio.

An indirect attack upon Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, Davey's opponent in the November gubernatorial race, also was included in the missive.

Declaring that the most urgent need of a conservation program is to take it out of politics, Davey said:

"As a citizen deeply interested in the cause of true conservation, I want to point out that the demand of the 'chief executive of Ohio' that the pending conservation bill be so radically changed so as to leave all appointments in the hands of the governor, including the director of conservation, is such a serious fault upon the vital principle of the bill that it needs to be called to the attention of the public."

Wants Bi-Partisan Board

"Your bill," Davey continued, "was designed to take conservation out of politics. It specifically provides for a bi-partisan board, to serve without pay, in order to secure for its membership those who are genuinely interested in the cause. It provides that this board shall have all the power of appointment, and it is the intention that it will operate on the whole program of conservation like the board of directors dealing with the affairs of a corporation. This board must not only be bipartisan, but it also must be non-partisan in its attitude. Above everything, it must have power to deal with its own problems.

"If this bill cannot be passed in such a form as to take the whole program of conservation out of politics it might be better not to be passed, because it would represent no substantial gain over the present political 'set-up.'"

The bill, introduced by Sen. V. D. Emmons, Akron, originally provided for the creation of a state department of conservation to draft and put into force a conservation program in the Buckeye state.

TWO INITIATED AT EAGLES' MEETING

Seven applications for membership were received and two candidates initiated at the weekly meeting of Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held last night in the lodge rooms.

Arrangements were made for special entertainment at the meeting next Wednesday night. Plans are incomplete at the present time but efforts are being made to bring Prof. H. P. Miller, a Bellefontaine magician, here for the meeting.

LEG BROKEN

Walter Frye Injured When Hit by Automobile

Walter Frye, 308 East Mark st., sustained a broken right leg when he was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle on East Church st. about 7:15 o'clock last night.

The accident occurred directly in front of the Calvary Evangelical church. The boy was taken to the City hospital in the Hess, Markert & Axe ambulance.

MT. GILEAD—A marriage license has been issued to Walter Gattshall, 22, farmer, of Cardington, and Louisbella Brenizer, 21, housekeeper, of Cardington.

300 ATTEND PLAY

DeMolay Production Scores Another Success on Closing Night

Approximately 300 persons were in attendance at the closing performance of "Three Wise Fools," three-act comedy presented Tuesday and Wednesday nights at Central Junior High school auditorium by Marion chapter, Order of DeMolay. This was the fourth dramatic offering of the DeMolay chapter and was produced under the personal direction of Miss Lucile Foreman, dramatic coach at Harding High school.

The comedy, played to about 650 persons during the two nights, was another success marked up to the credit of Miss Foreman. It was probably her greatest play here as far as getting personal characterizations out of the actors and actresses was concerned. Sherman Halderman, Wade McMahon and Robert Uncapher as the "Three Wise Fools" again delighted the audience with their interpretations of the roles accorded them in the play.

PLAN CAMPAIGN

Intermediate Church Officers Discuss Raising of Funds

Plans for a financial campaign among members of the Intermediate church of Epworth M. E. church were made at the first meeting of the official board, held last night at the church.

After a general assembly the three organizations, board of trustees, board of stewards and class leaders convened as separate units to discuss business relative to their own departments. Robert Stanley presided at the board of trustees' meeting and Robert Hush presided over the board of stewards' meeting. Members of the organizations were given contribution envelopes to distribute among the members of the church later. Permanent committees were appointed and it was decided that the official board meet the last Wednesday night of each month at the church. The next meeting will be held March 27.

Two Local Boys Begin Sentences Fixed by Court Here

Two Marion boys were added to the roll of inmates at the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster today.

They were Sylvester Rodman, charged with habitual truancy, and Robert Runkle, charged with automobile stealing. Both boys are 15 years of age. They were taken to the school by Chief Probation Officer V. B. Alter after being given indeterminate sentences by Judge Oscar Geist yesterday.

This was the Runkle boys' second appearance in the court within a few weeks. Charges of automobile stealing brought him into the court on both occasions. After his first appearance the boy was placed under a suspended sentence. Another theft brought him back into court.

REMOVED TO HOME

Mrs. Carl LaMarche was taken from the City hospital to her home, 310 South Main st., this afternoon in the Hess, Markert & Axe ambulance.

SAYS FIVE COUNTIES NOT REPRESENTED

Senator Carpenter's Death Leaves Vacancy, as Does Green's Appointment

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—With five counties having no representation in the Ohio legislature, Sen. E. H. Hughes, Zanesville, today said he is drafting an emergency bill providing for the filing of these vacancies. The measure, Hughes declared, will be thrown into the hopper as soon as it is completed.

Through the death of Sen. Harry M. Carpenter of Steubenville, Jefferson, Belmont, Harrison and Columbiana counties, are without a representative in the senate. It was pointed out that such cities as Steubenville, East Liverpool, Salem, Cadiz, Martins Ferry, Bellaire, and St. Clairsville, are left without a member in the upper house.

Portage county lost its representative in the lower house, when Rep. Perry L. Green, Hiram, was appointed state director of agriculture.

Hughes' bill would allow the appointment of persons to fill the vacancies by the governor after consultation with the state central committee of the counties affected. The appointees would serve until the next general election.

The bill, which is labeled as "emergency legislation" will receive immediate action when it is introduced, it is believed.

Itchy Pimples Disfigured Face. Caused Pain. Cuticura Healed.

"Pimples broke out on my forehead and between my eyes. They were very hard and red. After a few days they would burn and itch, causing me to scratch them. Every time I touched them it caused pain, and my face was disfigured.

"I had the trouble about a month when I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It afforded quick relief so I purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Wm. Kelly, 8236 Prairie Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"The VANGUARD"

By Arnold Bennett

"O[illegible] you know Lady Furber," Harriet suggested.

"[illegible] much 'of course' [illegible] the honorable Luke. [illegible] independent sort [illegible] he has his own [illegible] in Belgrave [illegible] even if I go there, [illegible] I needn't necessarily [illegible] Still, I do know [illegible] her."

"We[illegible]" Harriet, "it doesn't [illegible] ference whether [illegible] But she's a [illegible]—an old friend."

"That's very odd." "Anything the matter with Lady Furber, or with me?" "[illegible] she isn't your [illegible] class. His [illegible] * * * And only a few years ago [illegible] living in the [illegible] Towns—council [illegible] something. So I was wondering how she could be such an old friend of yours. I swear she couldn't have met anybody like you before she came to London."

"And what class d'you suppose I belong to?"

"Same as mine. The old High-[illegible] seats, Tory. Ruined [illegible] death duties, the war and super-[illegible]."

"You're not far out," said Harriet. "Except that I'm not quite ruined."

"Well, that's where you've got the pull of me. My lot was quite ruined—and no mistake about it. So I took service under the new huns."

Harriet proceeded.

"Moreover, I haven't had a great deal to do with my class for years * * * I've been traveling—alone. When I was living in Paris, I don't remember exactly how long since, there was a party of teachers from the Five Towns on one of those cheap excursions—you know, 'a week in Paris, 6 guineas, inclusive.' And I was asked to give up one day to showing them around. Some of these excursions are rather well managed. Ahem! It was then that I met Lady Furber. But of course she wasn't Lady Furber then, and never expected to be, either. I needn't tell you all the details; but we became great friends. It isn't that I see her very often; I don't: only we're always corresponding. You may believe me she's no ordinary woman."

"I do believe you," said the honorable Luke. "No ordinary sort of girl would have married him."

"But she was tremendously in love with him."

"Yes, I dare say."

"And he was with her."

"Was he?"

"Yes, he was. And there was the baby."

"Then she had two children—the baby was one and he was the other."

"Quite. Well, they've had a terrific quarrel. Of course this is strictly private."

"It isn't what I should call strictly private," said the honorable Luke. "[illegible] knew about it. At least I heard about it. We all heard about it. They were always having shindies. But this last one was about 10 sizes larger than usual."

"And I suppose you know the cause of it?"

"No, I don't. I doubt if any one does—really. If you understand me. Do you?"

"You mean they don't quite know themselves? One cause as good as another?"

"Something like that. They're of the same blood. She's fiery. He must have been hopelessly spoiled long before he'd any idea of marrying either her or anybody else. Both as proud as the devil. Ding dong. That's what it's been, all through, you may bet your life. The cause, whatever it is, isn't a cause—it's only the occasion."

"Yes," Harriet thoughtfully murmured. She was thoughtful, not by reason of her concern for Maudie Furber, but by reason of the grasp which the honorable Luke showed of the fundamentals of human nature. She had not guessed that the timid and ferocious boy had in him such wisdom.

"I suppose you haven't heard the cause?" Luke demanded negligently.

"If I had, do you think I should be asking you, my young friend," Harriet replied. "I haven't had even a glimpse of her for over a year. But I can promise you this. You're going to witness the most superb scrap of all your career as secretary to a volcano. * * * I mean, you mayn't actually witness it; but you'll feel the effects of it. We all shall."

"Here?"

"Yes. Here."

"In the yacht?"

"Probably. Lady Furber has just arrived in Monte Carlo. She's staying at the Hotel de Paris, and I shall see her tonight—while you wait for me in the car."

"You've seen her already, then?"

"No."

"You've heard from her?"

"Not a line."

"Then how d'you know she's here?"

"I was told."

"Does Lord Furber know?"

"He certainly does not. If he did he wouldn't be amusing himself at the club this moment."

"Does Sutherland know?"

"Nor him, either."

"Why has Lady F. come to Monte Carlo just now?"

"Because of the scandal in the London papers about the yacht."

"Scandal?"

"Haven't you heard?"

"Not a syllable."

"And yet you're supposed to be a private secretary! My poor friend, what have you been doing to let yourself be kept in the dark like this? Surely you owe it to your self-respect to be aware of every mortal thing about your soda-water bottle of an employer!" And Harriet informed him of the enormous gaffe perpetrated by Mr. Hobhouston, and the journalistic performances thereafter of the rival Evening Telegraph. "You now have in front of you nearly all the raw material of the thunderstorm that will soon be breaking over our unprotected heads," she added.

"There's another point," said the honorable Luke.

"What? Haven't you finished cross examining me yet?"

The Quarrel

"No, I haven't. I want to know this. You say you're an old friend of Lady Furber's. Then how is it that Lord Furber hasn't recognized you—I feel sure he hasn't."

"Of course, he hasn't. But then, you understand, he'd never met me before."

"But he must have heard his wife talking about you. After all, they aren't always quarreling—not by any means. I've seen them myself on the most affectionate turtle-dove terms. He must have known your name at least."

"How insufferable you are with your disgusting suspicions!" Harriet exclaimed. "I'm not in the witness box, and you aren't a K. C. Any one would think you wouldn't believe a word I said until it was proved to be true." Then she laughed. "Still, I'll tell you, though you're as big a bully as Lord Furber himself. I got a new name at the beginning of last year. A cousin of mine left me the whole of her fortune on the condition I changed my name to hers. She was extremely rich—until about a year before she died. Then she lost most of her money—not that I knew! So that she only left about 60 pounds a year."

"And did you change your name for a rotten 60 pounds per annum?"

"Sixty pounds isn't rotten. Six pounds wouldn't be rotten. No money is rotten." Some heat here in Harriet's tone. "Besides, the poor old thing fully meant to be generous. I think it would have been dreadfully mean of me to refuse her merely because she'd been done in by investment agents, when she was too old to look after herself. And what's more I enjoyed changing my name. A new name gives you a new outlook. And you have to learn to answer to a new name—that's good exercise for the brain. I call my new names my 'hotel name.' Has your highness any objection?"

"How like a woman!" said the honorable Luke superiorly.

"Oh!"

"Hasn't it occurred to you that you're in the yacht on false pretenses?"

"Indeed, I'm not in the yacht on false pretenses."

"Yes, you are. You come on board and worm yourself into all his secrets. First, you're his confidential secretary, then you're his housekeeper. And God knows what you'll be next! D'you imagine he'd have behaved to you as he has done, if he'd had the slightest notion that you were as thick as thieves with his wife? Of course, he wouldn't! No man would have done what you've done. A man would have been ashamed to do it."

Harriet felt insulted, and the more so because she knew that the accusation against her was not an unjust one.

She had, in fact, several times in the watches of the night brought the accusation against herself—and tossed it away again. Naturally therefore, she was furious with the honorable Luke, and warmly desirous of crushing him for an insufferable, interfering and pharisaical jackanapes.

Said she,

"Will you please have the goodness to remove yourself from this car at once, and tell the chauffeur to drive me to the Hotel de Paris. And for all I care you can run along and tell Lord Furber everything I've told you."

Without a word the honorable Luke sat up out of the coziness of the upholstery and turned the handle of the door. At the same time he switched on the interior lamp, illumining Harriet's face and his own. But neither could see the features of the other. It may be stated, however, that both were indignant, offended and angry. Harriet showed her feelings in the eyes. The honorable Luke showed his in the hanging of his lower lip. Harriet was the first to resume some sort of self-possession. It may seem strange that something in the gloss and curves of Luke's light brown hair moved her in the direction of common sense and good manners (and perhaps also of good nature), but so in truth it was.

"I say, Luke," she addressed him, in a queer strained voice.

"Well?" he questioned darkly, putting one foot on the step.

"Come back and shut that door—it's terribly cold—and sit down a moment. I want to ask you something."

"Well?" Luke sighed and sat down.

"Switch that light off, please. There's no need for us to advertise ourselves to the whole of Monte Carlo."

"No," Luke agreed with sadness, and he switched off the light, and sighed again, the reluctant and resentful martyr of impossible women.

Silence within the car. Not a sound in the utterly deserted street.

"Why are you so rude and unpleasant to me?" Harriet demanded.

"I'm not," said Luke. "I was only telling you the truth. And, of course, like all women, you hate the truth." He raised his voice suddenly. "Come, don't deny it. Was I telling you the truth or wasn't I?" He glared directly at her now.

Harriet laughed as easily as if Luke had been his cousin the wireless operator.

"I don't object to the truth. What I object to is the one you use." A good-natured appeal in her voice.

She said to herself, strangely alarmed.

"I've got on to some very thin ice * * * It's cracking under me."

But, contradictorily, perversely, she enjoyed her alarm: she would not on any consideration have had the ice thicker than it was.

"The point is," Luke countered, copying the good-nature in her appeal: "Do you want me to take you seriously or don't you?"

"Why should you take me seriously?"

"I'm hanged if I know!" said Luke, and smiled savagely.

Harriet proceeded, pouting:

"Perhaps I ought to have told Lord Furber about his wife and me. But I didn't tell him instantly, in the first few words, and even you must see that I couldn't tell him later—it was too late then. And I can't tell him now, can I? He must be left to find out for himself. Besides, why should I have told him. If he's got himself into difficulties with his wife it's his own fault. And women have to stand together. If they didn't, where would a girl be—in these days?"

The implication in her latest tone was that society had arrived at such a pass that innocent and defenseless women, surrounded by an inexorable pack of unprincipled wolves, in the guise of men, had to protect one another by fair means or foul—or resign themselves to the terrible disaster of being devoured alive and en masse.

"It's just occurred to me why I take you seriously," said the honorable Luke, quite ignoring Harriet's arraignment of society. "The reason is that I hate, detest and loathe you. You're a heartless flirt, an abandoned female, and a positive danger to the public." And with these words he leaned toward her and squeezed her wrist in his cruel masculine grip.

Odd, most odd, divinely odd, that for Harriet these brutal words had in them an angelical quality, soothing, uplifting. She was leaning back, he was leaning forward and sideways. She glanced at him from under her half-closed eyelids. And the boudoir in which they were inclosed together was so small, so cushiony, so impregnated with her perfume! Never before, despite sundry previous adventures of a not uninteresting nature, had she felt as she felt then. Timorous! Daring! Ready to swoon! Ready to sing songs of triumph! She noticed the expression on his face; at once honest, wise and masterful. Curiously there was something touching in the very bow of his black necktie, something intimidating in the sheeny convexity of his white shirt-front. She thought: "I'm seeing him now for the first time. He's all new to me. I've been blind."

He murmured:

"I shall have to kiss you in one minute—or less."

"Indeed you won't!" said she lazily. She was thinking: "I must be several years older than he is."

"Why not?" he asked.

She said:

"It's not done." And she was thinking: "He isn't even quite as tall as I am. And he's so shy. Not now, of course. But generally."

He said:

"But the other night you told me yourself that a kiss was nothing."

"Ah!" said she. "That was because I was offering it to you. Now you're asking for it."

"And I told you," said he. "I told you you'd see what a kiss was."

"Yes," she agreed. She was thinking: "This is a ridiculous situation. I can't possibly have my beautiful, solitary existence complicated in this way." She said aloud, but not very loud: "I absolutely forbid you to kiss me. And if you try to I'll never speak to you again."

"Of course I submit," said he.

And he kissed her on the cheek, softly, softly. Had he touched her or had he not touched her?

"I needn't tell you that isn't a kiss," he explained. "The time hasn't come yet for you to see what a real kiss is."

He shifted away from her.

"But," she protested. "We've only known one another a few days."

"I don't see what the point of that is. What on earth has that got to do with it?"

"But it's absurd!"

"Yes. Quite. Sha'n't you be a bit late at the Hotel de Paris?"

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary and Noel Lead Rescue Party to Save Prince

MARY had not seen either Noel or me as she dashed into the restaurant, by the bay, crying wildly for someone to come quickly. That she was frantic with fright was patent, and her own appearance was a terrifying thing. Her dress was torn, her shoes and stockings covered with dust, and with a wisp of a handkerchief she was dabbing futilely at blood which ran down into her eyes from a cut on her head.

Noel sprang from his chair the instant she appeared in the doorway, and raced toward her. I was but a few steps behind him as he caught her swaying figure and steadied her.

"Mary! Mary!" His voice was an anguished cry, "What is it?"

She was so obsessed with whatever fear was upon her that she evinced no surprise at seeing him or me.

"Oh! Noel! Auntie Madge!" she exclaimed as if her cry had summoned us. "Hurry! Hurry! I'm afraid they've killed him."

She turned toward the door, but Noel's grasp of her arm tightened.

"You are hurt! You must be taken care of," he said authoritatively.

"I'm not hurt at all," she said furiously. "This is only a scratch that I could stop if I had a decent handkerchief. Thank you," as one of the waiters who had rushed towards us proffered her a serviette which he had dipped in cold water. "This is all I need. But come! Everybody!"

With lithe agility she wriggled out of Noel's grasp and made for the door. But he was at her side the next instant, keeping pace with her.

"All right, I won't hinder you," I heard him say. "But you must let me help you. You cannot risk falling again. This way. My car is over here."

He took her arm, supporting her as she ran. With a spurt of speed, I reached her other side, and we ran to Noel's parked car.

"Get on the running board," he called to a couple of waiters who had followed us out. "You may be needed," and in another minute, with Mary and me beside him, and the two men clinging to the sides of the roadster, we were out of the driveway and speeding down the road leading from the bay. I had slipped one arm around Mary and with the other hand I held the wet serviette against the cut on her forehead. She was trembling violently, but her voice was steady and resolute as she directed Noel where to drive and told us what had happened.

"It's about a half mile down this road," she said. "We were just coming to one of those wood roads when we saw a couple of men step out from the bushes and signal us to stop. They were directly in front of the car so Georges had to slow down, but he swerved to try to get past them for he said he didn't like the idea of their signaling. But just as we came up to them, one of them lifted his hand and pointed a pistol at Georges. The rest is all mixed up. There was a shot, I know, and the sound of glass breaking, and Georges slumped down on the wheel. I grabbed the wheel and tried to keep the car in the road, but it smashed against a tree, not so awful hard, for we were going slow, but hard enough. I tried to get Georges out from behind the wheel, but couldn't and there wasn't a soul on the road. So I ran back to the restaurant as hard as I could. I fell down two or three times, but I made it."

Before my eyes, and I knew, before Noel's also, there passed a vision of that dauntless flying little figure, regardless of her own terror and painful injuries. But Mary's voice, sharpened now, brought us back to the ugly reality of our errand.

"It's right ahead there," she said. "Slow down!"

The waiter clinging to the door on our side of the car spoke apprehensively.

"Would the men be there still, do you think, Miss?"

"No fear," Mary said scornfully. "The second the shot was fired, they jumped back from the road, and I could hear them crashing through the underbrush like frightened cattle. They're two miles away by this time. That's right, Noel! Stop right here."

She had reached past me, torn open the door of the car and was out on the ground almost before the car stopped. Stumbling, she ran toward the other car, but as she put her hand upon the door she reeled back against me with a terrified scream.

"Oh! oh! he's gone! They've taken him away!"

VALUABLE ANCIENT COINS ARE STOLEN FROM CASTLE

VIENNA—Ancient coins of immense value were stolen from Castle Gmunden, residence of the Duke of Cumberland, the ex-Kaiser's son-in-law. Ernst Delters, ducal valet from Hannover, Germany, has been arrested on charges of being the thief, but only a saving bank deposit and a small piece of melted gold was found.

Delter, so far, refuses to tell the police where the coins are now.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

WHEN I let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth this morning it was the last day I will let him down this month. I ain't sore on him, nor I ain't going to throw him down or anything, but I ain't going to let him down any more this month because there is not any more of this month. When I had fixed the stoves and yanked the milk out of the cows one by one, and had went in and my and had asted me as a favor to her to wash the barne smell off of me before I came to the table, I went and washed my face and hands and then I snuck in her room and swiped her antomizer and antomized perfume all over myself, so that if anyone had met in the dark they would have thought I was an ant or something. Then I went out to the table and reached for a pancake with one hand and a egg with the other, and my ant sniffed with her nose and looked at me with a couple of eyes that looked like hard boiled eggs cut in two in the middle, and she was just going to say something when my grandfather said, "It is just like I told you. March is getting ready to come in like a lion." And I said, "It looks to me like it is coming in more like a wild-cat," and my ant smoothed out her face and plastered a grin on it. But it was the kind of a grin that if I was tied to a mast and a pirut was in front of me with a sword and he grun like that I could pretty near tell what he was going to have for dinner.

Then my father said to my grandfather, "You are wrong, Square, the backbone of winter is broken." And my grandfather said "Mebby so, mebby so, but the weather man has got his thumb on the bellybutton of it. You wait and see. And if you have got any bully or anything coming up you better tuck them into bed, because I bet you a blizzard is going to blizz." Everyone gave him the laugh and I got another egg and two more slices of bacon while they were hoorawing him. Then I chasted myself and me and Jubilee and the bunch went around past the hospital and the flag was still flying; so maybe I'll get a chance yet to push Podgeen's face so far in that his ears will be wrong side out.

After supper we all went over to Youulabes house, and my grandfather was the only one that took his overcoat, and before we went home he had to go home and get all of our overcoats and everything for us. He was so proud because March was coming in like a lion that I bet he laughed all the way. I don't blame him.

Give freely

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated, or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant tasting preparation. It comforts Baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purging. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Nerve-ridden...dogged by sleepless nights...then, at 76, she found relief—without medicine

Her "nerves" were a family tradition—she needed medicine to get to sleep. Then, at the age of 76, relief came to Mrs. Sarah Van Sickle. Read this remarkable story, as told by her grand-daughter:

"Whenever Grandmother arrives for a visit she brings a can of her favorite beverage. Grandma must have her morning caffein on the dot. Grandma's 'nerves' are a family tradition. She had 'jumping spells'; she dreaded 'poor nights' and always needed quieting pills if her first sound sleep was disturbed.

"But last April, when Grandma arrived, she announced, 'No, sir, I don't use caffein any more!' We were stunned until Grandma explained.

"'Last winter my nerves simply went to pieces. I doctored and doctored, without results. Finally, a new doctor ordered me to drop caffein. I told him I never could start the day without it—for 55 years I had been drinking it—but he said it was high time to stop.

"'I was miserable until someone suggested Postum. I've been using it ever since. It has such a tasty flavor. It has been a substitute for caffein, and a substitute for medicine, too. During the last few months, I have taken less medicine, my food digests better, and I sleep better than I have in years.'"

MRS. LUCILLE SOUTHGATE,
285 Thomas Ave., Charlotte Station, Rochester, N. Y.

PERHAPS your age is only one-third or one-half of Mrs. Van Sickle's. Perhaps you have health to boast of. But the healthiest person in the world hasn't any health to squander. And isn't that what you are doing when you take into your system, day after day, a drug stimulant, like caffein, that burns up energy, without giving any in return?

Don't wait to pay the price so often exacted for this indiscretion! Take Mrs. Van Sickle's advice—eliminate caffein from your diet now! Drink Postum with your meals instead! Try this change for thirty days—then check results. You'll be amazed at the difference!

You'll like Postum for its flavor, too—a rich, distinctive flavor millions prefer. Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran. A drink that contains no trace of any artificial stimulant—nothing to fray nerves, to repel sleep, to disturb digestion.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both cost much less than other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today!

Alvin York's War Record Is High Spot in History

EVERY war has its outstanding individual hero. Both General Pershing and Marshal Foch acclaimed Sergeant Alvin C. York, of Tennessee, the greatest of all heroes of the World war. York will be in Marion Mar. 10 to lecture under auspices of Bird McGinnis Post of the American Legion.

The extraordinary thing about York's story is that before going overseas he thrice claimed exemption from military services on the grounds that he was a member of a church which was opposed to war and fighting.

There can be no doubt whatever that the big, red-headed sergeant was a "conscientious objector." In the archives of the War Department in Washington there is a little pink tag marked: "Alvin C. York, Pro. Pall Mall, Tenn.: conscientious objector; religious grounds."

Thus for all time the outstanding hero of the World war will go down in history as a "conscientious objector."

His Reformation

And now comes the sergeant's own explanations. In his youth he was, to use his own words, "hog wild." He gambled, cussed, smoked, boozed and got mixed up in knife and pistol fights all along the old Kentucky border. Then suddenly he abandoned this wild life completely and forever. Since 1912 he has never tasted liquor, smoked, gambled or even lost his temper. When war broke out he was working on a farm and doing Sunday school work in his own little valley. The possessor of a fine tenor voice, he was known through the mountains as "The Singing Elder."

Came the war. The big fellow was not interested. He had tried fighting along the Kentucky border. It was not worthwhile. He applied to the local board for exemption on the grounds that he was member in good standing of a church which was opposed on moral principles to war and fighting. The application was refused. Armed with two affidavits, one from his pastor, Rosier Pile, he appealed against the decision. The appeal was denied. For the third time he appealed; and for the third time he was ordered to camp. Then Pastor Pile wrote direct to President Wilson. In vain. So York went to camp. But it took months of arguing and reading from the Bible to convince him that he should go overseas and fight.

But finally he was converted to war; and went "Over There" and made history.

One "wise-cracker" said: "My God, if as a conscientious objector he whipped a whole German machine gun battalion, what would he have done had his heart been in it?"

Newspapers report that York is a fine orator and that his story, as he tells it, is one of the greatest human stories in the world today.

Protect Your Home! Guard Your Health!

The Gas-Fired Incinerator Will Help You by Modernizing Your Method of Garbage and Rubbish Disposal

WITH an incinerator in your basement you not only improve the appearance of the back yard but you also remove the fire hazard of the rubbish pile and the germ-breeding of the garbage can.

The incinerator is simple to operate. You just drop the refuse into the spacious chamber, turn on the gas—and soon there will be nothing left of the garbage or rubbish except a small quantity of sterilized ash. An automatic shut-off will turn off the gas when it has burned the length of time you desire.

The gas-fired incinerator is installed easily and quickly wherever there are flue and gas connections

By using a gas-heated laundry dryer you can cut your wash-day in half

The Modern Way to Dry Clothes

BY drying one tub of clothes while another is being washed, the gas-heated dryer saves half the time necessary for laundry work under the old method. Space in the drying cabinet equals 60 feet of clothes line. The burner, which is automatically controlled, is completely enclosed—sealed—and nothing touches the clothes except clean, warm air. Eliminating all worries about outside drying—banishing fears of rain, wind, sleet, smoke, soot, exposure to cold, etc.—the gas-heated dryer makes every day a perfect wash-day when the entire laundry can be done in the basement, in less time and with no thought of weather handicaps.

Lou Henry, Now Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Wife of the President-Elect, Once Helped Boys Organize Baseball in Home Town in California; Found Diamond for Them

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth story in a series descriptive of the girlhood life of Lou Henry, now Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, as told by men and women who were her playmates in the little Quaker town of Whittier, Cal., more than 40 years ago.)

WHITTIER, Cal., Feb. 28—Harry A. Williams [illegible] in the [illegible] Baseball League was [illegible] a big [illegible] [illegible] many years [illegible] now wife of the [illegible] Herbert C. Hoover told him how to clear out a patch of mustard weed to make a baseball outfield.

The story was told here today by Harry Jordan, prominent Whittier rancher, who was a pupil at the [illegible] school in this little Quaker town when Lou Henry was a girl.

The pupils of the [illegible] school wanted a baseball [illegible] [illegible] there was [illegible] but the school boasted no [illegible] field. At that time Whittier was a land of [illegible] mustard weed. The school yard was simply a segment of the [illegible] growing [illegible] and [illegible] so rank a growth that [illegible] ball [illegible] into [illegible] vanished for all time.

Baseball Suggestion

Lou Henry first suggested that we clear a space for a baseball diamond, Jordan declared. [illegible] She took charge of the entire idea, and divided the pupils into three squads, one [illegible] the [illegible] space and two [illegible] up an [illegible] [illegible] I was in the [illegible] squad captained by Lou and the [illegible] squads were captained by [illegible] German and Vesta [illegible] I remember that Harry Williams was in [illegible] German's squad.

Lou Henry was the prototype of today's athletic girl. As squad captain she was in her element. It afforded her an opportunity to indulge her liking for outdoor activities. And the baseball end of it appealed to her, for she liked athletics [illegible] a day when [illegible] them by a girl [illegible] considered [illegible] [illegible] the proper thing.

The space for the infield was cleared in about two hours as I remember it. I recall also that it was done with a [illegible] amount of perspiration. At times the [illegible] was handicapped by the children's fear of spiders, of which there were many in the mustard weed. But Lou Henry kept calling out:

Never mind the spiders. They won't hurt you. And [illegible] the trap [illegible] kind [illegible] [illegible] them for [illegible] animal collection.

Faculty For Leadership

The girl's natural faculty for leadership kept our [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] and we cleared that space in record time. We finished before the outfield squads [illegible] Lou Henry [illegible] not very [illegible] on our part, I must admit [illegible] Lela Rose and Vesta [illegible] their [illegible].

It had been agreed that the [illegible] squad should treat the [illegible] cake and lemonade [illegible] Lou Henry played hostess to us [illegible]

The Whittier rancher laughs at the recollection of [illegible] struggles with the [illegible] weed [illegible] remark [illegible] work [illegible] to the future wife of [illegible] that the [illegible] as far as a [illegible] the [illegible]

[illegible] the next day Jordan [illegible] Lou Henry [illegible] [illegible] she was satisfied that [illegible] [illegible]

(Another interesting article about the early life of Mrs. Hoover will follow.)

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF 13-YEAR-OLD BOY

Police Question Whether Youth Shot Self After Childish Quarrel

CINCINNATI, Feb. 28.—Did [illegible] year old [illegible] Thomas [illegible] kill him[illegible] because of a quarrel with his school girl sweetheart or did he die as the result of an accidental shooting?

That is the question confronting [illegible] here today.

A note written by the boy to Helen [illegible] playmate, just before the [illegible] death did not throw any light upon the shooting.

Dr. Perry J. Shank said he believed the boy had committed suicide but Fletcher Carlton, the boy's uncle with whom he lived, thought the shooting was accidental.

Gordon found the boy dead on the floor of his room with a bullet wound [illegible] and a note addressed to the girl. The note read: I am going to [illegible] [illegible] it was explained [illegible] was a friend of Thomas.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

A clear skin is irresistible

...in fact, popularity depends upon it

THAT priceless treasure—a clear, flawless, lovely skin—charms, with admiration, the eyes of men.

First impressions cannot be had without a clear skin—first impressions are quickly made and are not soon forgotten. Old friends may excuse pimples and secretly sympathize but new acquaintances may not be so charitable. Skin blemishes are not inviting. Neither can they be covered up. They embarrass. Hold people back. Steal away joy and happiness.

A lovely—clear skin—is within the reach of all. To those who have lost it, hope is offered. You, too, may have a beautiful skin rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Many thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking S.S.S. It is Nature's own blood tonic for raising the body's power of resistance to disease, improving the appetite, building firm flesh, and clearing the skin. S.S.S. promotes constructive metabolism (healthy body building). It increases the number of red blood cells.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Strong healthy blood nourishes the body and fights against infection and disease.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it.

SSS The Worlds Best Blood Medicine

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the flu.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Dates Set For Junior Cage Series

IRISH CAGERS RING DOWN CURTAIN ON HOME COURT SEASON

Kelly Leads Local Quintet to 26 to 14 Victory in Star

CLIMAXING a very successful year in interscholastic competition Marion St. Mary's cagers last night completed their pre-tournament schedule by administering a first rate trouncing to the Springfield St. Mary's five 26 to 14 in a game played in Star auditorium.

A fast breaking offense backed up by an airtight defense completely puzzled the Springfield five and the locals were never in any danger of being headed.

Behind the scoring of Bob Kelly, Gunder and Gorsuch the local five easily won. Kelly led the locals with nine points from four buckets and a foul while Gunder and Gorsuch each counted six points from three buckets. Ballenger the high scoring ace of last week was off last night missing many easy under the basket shots. He counted two buckets for a total of four points.

Its drive in the first quarter was one of the strongest uncorked this season by St. Mary's. A flock of buckets made by fast team work under the baskets gave the Saints the lead 12 to 1 as the period ended.

In the second quarter the Marion lads slowed up getting only two points while Springfield was running its total up to five. A new drive was started in the third quarter and before the period ended the local quint were out in front 21 to 10. The second stringers were sent in during the latter part of the final quarter.

Friday morning the locals will play their first game in the central district basketball tournament meeting Stoutsville.

BOB FALK TRADED TO CLEVELAND NINE

Third String Catcher, Cash Paid for Sox Outfielder

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28—General Manager Billy Evans, of the Cleveland Indians American league baseball club today announced consummation of a deal in which Bob Falk, veteran outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, comes to Cleveland in exchange for Chick Autry, third string catcher, and an unannounced sum in cash.

Falk is to report to Manager Roger Peckinpaugh for spring training at New Orleans March 10. The White Sox are weak in catching and there was known to have been friction between Falk and the club management last year. Falk has been with the Sox since 1920 when he broke into big league baseball directly after leaving the University of Texas.

LEAGUE FORMED

Four Ohio Colleges Join Baseball Athletic Conference

WILMINGTON, Feb. 28—Four Central Ohio colleges today are members of a four cornered athletic league as a result of a meeting late yesterday of the athletic directors of Wilmington, Antioch, Cedarville and Wilberforce colleges.

The new league will be known as the C. A. W. W. league and will deal only with baseball at present.

Each member of the association will play the others three times during the season.

Athletic Director Bor[illegible] of Cedarville was elected president and D[illegible] of Antioch secretary.

MICHIGAN TO PLAY OHIOANS SATURDAY

Buckeyes After Revenge in Final Cage Game of Season

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—Michigan, traditional rival of Ohio State, will send its powerful basketball team here Saturday to meet the Olsenites in the final game of the year. Defeated at Ann Arbor earlier in the season, Ohio State will be out to even matters, as it did against Iowa Monday.

The Buckeyes possess the unique distinction this season that no opponent holds two victories over them in basketball and they are preparing to keep this record clean.

One Ohio State regular, George Van Heyde, Columbus, will play his last cage game for the Buckeyes. This game will close his career of three years.

Other contests on the menu for the week end will be the fencing match with Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich., the Cornell-Ohio State wrestling match here Saturday, another fencing duel with Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday and a dual track meet with Indiana at Bloomington also on Saturday. The track meet with the Hoosiers will mark the close of the indoor season prior to the indoor conference championships, March 8 and 9 at Iowa City.

GOOCH MAY GO

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 28—[illegible] Boston [illegible] Detroit [illegible]

ONLY TWO CONTESTS WILL BE PLAYED, OFFICIALS DECLARE

First Game Scheduled for March 8 at Vernon Heights

MARCH 8 and March 15 are the dates that have been set by Principals W. F. Orcutt of Central junior high school and R. A. Gayle of Vernon Heights for the annual Vernon-Central basketball tussles to decide the city championship for junior high schools. This much was determined at a meeting of representatives from the two schools.

Contrary to previous series between these two rivals there will be no third game played. The first will take place on the Vernon floor while the second will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gym where Central has been holding forth in all their at-home games. If each team takes one game then that is the way it will end, the only chance for one team to be undisputed champion of the city being to take both games.

The idea of no third game belongs wholeheartedly to the Vernon representatives for Principal Orcutt is only too willing to stage the third game if it is necessary, it was stated. Last year the two teams played three games on the Star auditorium court with the Central Junior quint taking two out of three.

Hopes that a change can be effected so as to play the third and deciding game if it becomes necessary were declared to be remote.

Odds at the first game which is to be played at Vernon will probably see the home team the favorite as a result of the value of the home floor. The Vernon court is small and has a ceiling that requires the big boys to duck their heads when they dribble down the floor. However, if the Gablercoached quintet can get back to its old form it will give the home team one grand battle.

The second game at the Y will make Central the favorite but not by as large a margin as the first game made Vernon. Central has played some good games on the Y floor but on the opposite side have pulled off some pretty weird ones to the discomfiture of their backers.

A local referee is booked to handle the second clash while it is not known who will handle the first battle at Vernon.

MARION VOLLEYBALL TEAM IN TOURNEY

Meets Findlay in First Round at Van Wert Today

Eleven Marion business men will forget their business affiliations and worries this afternoon and tonight and will travel to Van Wert where they will stage a valiant attempt to win for this city its fourth or fifth straight sectional volleyball championship. In other words the Marion Y. M. C. A. volleyball team, which is given more than an even chance of copping state honors this year, will leave at 1 o'clock this afternoon for the northern Ohio city to battle once more for the honor of winning the district tourney and of going to Columbus next month to compete in the state tourney.

For the past five years or ever since the volleyball tournament has been established the Marion outfits have copped high honors and once have traveled to the national championships at Philadelphia.

Marion will play its first game tonight at 5 o'clock when they tackle the Findlay team. One hour later they meet the boys from Lima and 75 minutes past that time they tackle the winner of the Tiffin-Toledo game. The double elimination plan will be used which means that a team must lose two matches before it is out of the competition.

Those making the trip with the Marion team are Rodney Hume, F. G. Seitert, Virgil Lowell, Ted Bell, [illegible] Heminger, Roy Rice, Charles Isaly, George Doering, Roy Waddell, Russell Snare and Walter Bailey. The first six named will start.

JACK SHARKEY WINS OVER STRIBLING

VICTOR NONE TOO BRILLIANT; "W. L." PASSES BIG CHANCE

[illegible]d Ninth Rounds Go [illegible]o Pride of South

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28— [illegible] Sharkey, the garrulous gob [illegible] a $100,000 smile today as a result of his victory over [illegible] Young Stribling, the acrobat of Macon, Ga., before a [illegible] assemblage in Flamingo [illegible] but he certainly had [illegible] for bragging very [illegible] his accomplishment, although he beat Stribling enough he did not rise to any heights in so doing. He fought [illegible] fight but not a brilliant one [illegible] few of the 35,000 fans who [illegible] about $400,000 to witness the [illegible] questioned the decision rendered by Referee Lou Magnolia of New York after 10 rounds of battling.

F[illegible] $100,000

[illegible] was [illegible] easy $100,000 that [illegible] key [illegible] He emerged from the [illegible] without a mark and while [illegible] it add greatly to his prestige [illegible] was no gainsaying the fact that [illegible] once and for all disposed of [illegible] handsome young southerner as a [illegible] heavyweight championship contender.

Stribling [illegible] his big chance and [illegible] muffed it. He simply was not [illegible] enough [illegible] pe with the heavier stronger Sharkey. He tried hard [illegible] to come through for the [illegible] Stribling assemblage [illegible] he did not have it in him. For [illegible] he weighed only 182 pounds [illegible] 10 pounds lighter than Sharkey which counted and for another [illegible] badly after the fourth round demonstrating that he has not the necessary stamina when up against first class opposition.

The young southerner however made [illegible] bids for victory, once in the [illegible] and again in the ninth but each [illegible] he either could not see his opportunity or could not seize it because [illegible] lack of stamina. He rocked Sharkey on his heels in the fourth with a hard right to the jaw and a terrific hook to the chin but he did not follow up his advantage. And again in the ninth he belted Mr. Sharkey squarely on the button with a hard right but the Bostonian did not go down. And from that moment on "W. L." as his parents call him [illegible] ded.

CERTAIN OF VICTORY

Sharkey fought what might be [illegible] a heady fight. That is to say the kind of a battle that while not [illegible] give to thrills for the spectators [illegible] was nevertheless a sure road to vic[illegible]. He jabbed away at Stribling's [illegible] with a mean straight left that [illegible] blood from Stribling's nose and [illegible] occasionally varied his attack with [illegible] right hooks [illegible] the effect of wearing down his lighter opponent.

The tenth and final round found Stribling a rather pathetic sight, his [illegible] covered with blood and [illegible] actually trying to stave off the [illegible] Sharkey. Had the fight [illegible] a few rounds more Stribling [illegible] not have stood the pace and he [illegible] certainly would have gone down. He was very weak indeed.

This writer recorded two rounds [illegible] Stribling, two even and six for Sharkey. At no stage of the contest [illegible] the Bostonian in any real danger.

Ma' Defends Son

Ma Stribling, who sat at the [illegible] stop-watch in hand, said that [illegible] was "robbed" of the decision [illegible] was almost alone in this belief. [illegible] Stribling, his manager, declared [illegible] was suffering from a sore rib [illegible] of the shoulder and that [illegible] to have an effect upon him [illegible] the fourth round. Stribling himself expressed the opinion that he [illegible] a good fight and that had he [illegible] Sharkey four days ago before [illegible] his rib he would have [illegible] him.

[illegible] was magnanimous in vic[illegible]. He may have been thinking [illegible] easy $100,000 he made. Any[illegible] he gave the southerner credit [illegible] a good hitter, adding:

"Much Better"

"He was much better than I expected. He hurt me badly in the [illegible] and ninth rounds and had he [illegible] a little more he might have [illegible] it mighty tough for me."

[illegible] bout itself was a colorless af[illegible] although the crowd that saw it [illegible] as picturesque as any that has [illegible] witnessed a major prizefight in [illegible] country. The first round was [illegible] with both men feeling each [illegible] Sharkey became the ag[illegible] in the second and took that [illegible] by a slight margin [illegible] drawing blood from Stribling's [illegible] with sharp straight lefts in the [illegible] the big Bostonian went into [illegible] Stribling did manage to [illegible] key a bit with a left to the [illegible] a right to the body.

Sharkey Hit in Fourth

[illegible] in the fourth Stribling de[illegible] two of his three really effec[illegible] blows of the contest—a hard [illegible] to the jaw and resounding left [illegible] button. Sharkey blinked [illegible] Stribling around the waist [illegible] until his head cleared.

[illegible] resumed the offensive in [illegible] and held it in the six [illegible] seventh. His jabs to the [illegible] which drew blood and [illegible] worried Stribling and he [illegible] the ambitious young [illegible] with occasional sickening [illegible] the stomach.

[illegible] staged a desperate rally [illegible] eighth but Sharkey [illegible] hard rights and lefts and the [illegible] was even.

[illegible] the ninth the southerner had another big chance and again he muffed it. He caught Sharkey with a hard right on the point of the jaw and Sharkey hung on for dear life.

Tenth to Sharkey

But with this blow Stribling had shot his bolt. The final round was all Sharkey's. He pecked away at Stribling's bleeding face until his opponent's countenance was a sight to behold. It was a weary Stribling who touched gloves with Sharkey when the bell ended. He knew he was beaten. Even so he was well paid financially, as his 20 percent of the gate must war as will net him around $80,000 or $90,000.

The show was indeed a great spectacle even though the bout itself was anything but a thriller. It drew a surprisingly large crowd and was a distinct tribute to the promoting ability of Jack Dempsey, who took up the task of carrying on after the [illegible] Tex Rickard passed away. Dempsey made it possible for Madison Square Garden to realize a profit [illegible] $100,000.

Assemblage Brilliant

No prize fight [illegible] entertained such a brilliant assemblage and very few if any have been held in a more picturesque [illegible] than Flamingo park with [illegible] of royal palm trees and tropic atmosphere. In the crowd were [illegible] America's best known men [illegible] them Fred Stone, [illegible] Rex Beach, [illegible] of the New York [illegible] Gene Tunney, [illegible] Laughlin, [illegible] Taylor, Carl Fisher, [illegible] Babe Ruth, [illegible] Capone, Irving Berlin, [illegible] and a dozen [illegible] states [illegible] Horace [illegible] Street brokers [illegible] United States congressmen and [illegible] cream of Palm Beach society.

The fight [illegible] official of the [illegible] [illegible] a ringsider [illegible] dressed in full evening dress suit [illegible] and monocle [illegible] hats [illegible] gloves.

SHARKEY TRIMS STRIBLING

Pictured above are the two famous "Jacks" of the fistic world. Jack Sharkey last night defeated Young Stribling at Miami Beach, Fla., in an elimination match under the promotion of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion. The two may meet again to settle the championship if Dempsey decides to come back.

Stribling Misses Chance by Not Following Up In 4th

BY SID MERCER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28— Had Young Stribling followed up the damage he inflicted on Jack Sharkey with a terrific right to the button in the fourth round and another vicious attack born of desperate energy in the eighth round at Flamingo Park last night, he might have been hailed today by his admirers as the uncrowned heavyweight champion of the world.

He struck no more than three [illegible] blows in upholding the standard of the [illegible] against the Yankee [illegible] but aside from that he was the [illegible] and [illegible] Sharkey's offensive [illegible] and by a referee who wouldn't [illegible] away with [illegible] rough stuff. It was a colorless fight that Sharkey won out there under the summer sky before a crowd of 40,000 persons who had assembled from all parts of the country in the hope of seeing the issue in this battle sharply drawn and decisively settled.

Sharkey Aggressor

Sharkey was the aggressor in the [illegible] that he forced the pace and [illegible] Stribling into rushing into [illegible] counter attacks. But Sharkey [illegible] desperate chances because he knew he was winning. Stribling disappointed his constituents from the southland by failing to defeat without making any desperate attempts to sand the sky.

A round by round score concurred in by most of the boxing critics from the north and [illegible] to [illegible] by many of [illegible] friends of the Georgian in the south gave Sharkey six clear rounds. Stribling took the fourth and ninth and made a flash [illegible] in the eighth that [illegible] Sharkey [illegible] for the three minute period. The first round, which was mostly maneuvering and clinching, could have been called either way.

No Doubt of Decision

There was no question on Referee Louis Magnolia's part when he raised Sharkey's arm after the last bell and even though there were thousands of Stribling men in that crowd no roar of protest smote the soft evening breeze.

As far as physical condition went Sharkey had big edge. Stribling appeared to be stale from training, was tired and dull after the fourth round and felt his weight handicap of 10 pounds in the many body exchanges.

It was known that the Georgian was not in the peak of condition. But he stood up well under Sharkey's hammering drives to the body.

Neither of the fighters was upset or desperately wounded at any time in the 10 round fray. The high light [illegible] flashed out in the fourth round. Sharkey had won the second and third rounds by expert [illegible] and [illegible] body punching and was booming along in the third.

Suddenly Stribling let a long right go straight from the shoulder and his glove smacked on the sailor's jaw with terrific force. It was the finest [illegible] of the night. It had [illegible] Delivered with lightning-like precision it caught Sharkey unawares and he couldn't dodge. But he took it like a major and even while reeling back from the impact of the blow he collected himself and came back fighting. Stribling attempted to come across with the right again but missed and [illegible] his big opportunity passed.

Sharkey went on to capture the next three rounds by fancy maneuvering and effective countering. He seemed to have evolved a good defense against Stribling's holding and hitting. Every time the rough work started Sharkey would squat down until his head was on William Lawrence's chest. Thus the sailor broke holds and ruined Stribling's favorite method of body attack.

In the ninth he landed his second and third major shots. Sharkey had been drumming the body and [illegible] but rushed in carelessly and was [illegible] on his heels with a right to the jaw. As he was blinking from the effects of that sock Stribling hooked a long left to the head and again Jack fell back. But Sharkey closed the round by peppering the young [illegible] ribs and [illegible] against Stribling's desperate rushes to take the tenth.

Harding Given Chance To Win First Contest of Tournament

BEXLEY EXPECTED TO FALL BEFORE FIRST DRIVE OF PRESIDENTS

Aquinas Finished Fourth in High School League at Columbus

BY MARION O. CHENOWETH
Marion Star Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28—With fans and players of 11 teams of the Central District anxiously awaiting the game which will open the annual [illegible] tournament at Delaware next Friday, high moguls in the sport writing world were knocking heads together today in an attempt to point out the possible teams which will become the favored Messiahs of the [illegible] cup.

Convinced that picking fleas off a dog's back would be a much easier job than selecting the possible winner of the Class A title, the scribes were unable to reach a definite conclusion. Out of the imbroglio however came one clear fact. And that was Harding high of Marion has more than an ordinary chance to annex the district crown and make a bid in the state tourney in March.

The opportunity that the Harding cage squad has this year in the tournament looks as good if not better than it has in previous years. It has been many years if ever since Harding high has won a tournament title and competed in the state tournament according to this writer's knowledge. In 1923 however the Red and Black did go to the state meet after winning the runners up position at Delaware.

The Harding team in the opening encounter next Friday will clash with the cage squad of Bexley High, Columbus, a team reputed to be far inferior to the Presidents.

In spite of the fact that Bexley has won seven of 10 games played this season, with a few exceptions its opponents have been of lesser calibre than those faced by the Marionites. The team defeated Westerville, Upper Arlington, London and Groveport and lost to Grandview, Marysville and to Delaware by a lop-sided score. It won second place in the suburban league in Columbus.

To increase the market on the Harding victory stock, Rowland, star of the Bexley team will likely be out of the contest Friday on account of an injury to his knee suffered in the final game of the season with Grandview. Last week Rowland was the team's best offensive man and held scoring honors for the season.

Red and Black guards should also have little trouble in halting the advances of Davis and Morris, forwards, and Hicks, center. Woodward and Davidson will play guards for the team.

To top off the victory before the game is played the Bexley team will enter the contest with little thoughts of winning. In a statement to the writer yesterday the Bexley coach stated he did not believe his team could overcome the Harding high school five.

Should the Red and Black win its first game and by all rules of comparison it ought to, the team will meet the Aquinas five Saturday afternoon in the second round. The Irish team will play its first game Saturday, having pulled a bye for the first stanza.

The Aquinas aggregation, coached by Mike Roland, has won 11 games and lost 10 during the past season, taking fourth place in the Columbus high school league. None of lost games were lost by more than seven points, however.

Roland will put a light team on the floor at the Delaware meet. His two forwards, Burke and Johns, tip the scales at 105 and 110 pounds respectively. Both are fast and have good shooting ability. Durbin, the fifth highest scorer in the Columbus league, will play one of the guards and McHale, the sixth in the scoring list, will play the center post.

[illegible] Scales or Hadden will [illegible] the remaining berth.

[illegible] is figured as showing the [illegible] first game Harding will [illegible] be able to [illegible] the fight with Aquinas.

SPRING TONIC
It is beyond question that Ice Cream is the best spring tonic. Especially Tender's Ice Cream with all the real butter fat and the abundance of milk solids so essential for the lime and other bone and teeth building vitamines. It is no wonder so many wise to it people serve it as a dessert three times a day. And the price is so cheap during this good will friend making campaign that it is a sin to pass it by.

In the Common Pleas Court Marion County, Ohio. No 20506.

Howard F. Guthery, Administrator of the Estate of Jay H. Stiverson, Deceased, Plaintiff, vs.

George Stiverson, et. al., Defendants.

Pursuant to an order of sale directed to me in the above entitled cause, I will offer at public sale at the West door of the Court House on Saturday, March 9, 1929, at [illegible] o'clock P. M., the following described real estate:

TRACT ONE: Situated in Grand Township, Marion County, Ohio, and being known as the South Half of the Northeast Quarter of the Southeast Quarter of Section Twenty-eight (28), Township Four (4), South, Range Thirteen (13) East, containing Twenty (20) acres more or less.

TRACT TWO. Also the following described premises: situated in Grand Township, Marion County, Ohio and known as the Southwest Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section Twenty-seven (27), Township Four (4), South, Range Thirteen (13) East containing Forty (40) Acres of land be the same more or less.

Also, the South Half of the South Half of the West Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section Number Twenty-seven (27), Township Four (4) South, Range Thirteen (13) in the District of lands subject to sale at Bucyrus, Ohio containing Twenty (20) Acres of land, more or less.

TRACT THREE: Also the East one-half of the Northeast Quarter of Section Thirty-four (34), Township Four (4), South Range Thirteen (13) East, containing Eighty (80) acres more or less.

Said premises are appraised at $8,499.00, but same is being offered subject to a mortgage to The Union Central Life Insurance Company and therefore cannot sell for less than $9,563.00 of which purchase price $7,021.21 may be paid by assumption of the mortgage on said premises to The Union Central Life Insurance Company in the above amount as of December 1, 1928. Said amount represents thirteen (13) amortization notes in the sum of $540.10 each the first due December 1, 1929, and one due each year thereafter until all are fully paid, the last note becoming due December 1, 1941. Interest having been figured in said notes.

Said notes may be discounted at any time at the rate of [illegible] compounded annually, providing all prior notes have been paid. Terms of sale: Cash on day of sale with the exception of $7,021.21 which may be paid by assumption of mortgage.

HOWARD F. GUTHERY,
Administrator of the Estate of Jay H. Stiverson, Deceased.
